U.S. PUTS CURB ON ITALIAN ENVOYS

WHITE HOUSE BOSTON MAR 7 - 1941 LIBRARY OF MASS.

Two Consulates Ordered Closed

DUCE ENVOYS IN U. S. CURBED

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—The United States has notified Italy that the movements of Italian consular officials throughout this country are to be restricted and has asked that Italian consulates in Detroit and Newark, N. J., be closed.

The State Department made public today a note to the Italian government requesting that its consular officials confine their movements to those areas in which they exercise the recognized duties of their respective offices.

The Italian diplomatic staff in Washington was excluded from the request, but the embassy was asked to keep the State Department currently informed "of movements outside Washington of the military and naval personnel" atached to embassy.

The action, believed to be the first of its kind in peace time against a country with which the United States maintains diplomatic relations, followed a request from Italy for the closing of American consulates at Naples and Palermo and restrictions imposed in Italy on the movements of American diplomatic officials.

Secretary of State Hull's note to the Italian ambassador referred to the closing of the two American consulates but did not explain why the United States was asking the closing of the Italian consulates or restricting the movements of the consular officials.

In a previous announcement, the State Department said the closing of the consulates was requested "for reasons of national policy."

Informed of the State Department's action, Silvo Vitale, Italian vice-consul in Boston, expressed surprise and disbelief at the news.

"I don't believe it," was his first reaction.

He said no inkling of the decision had been received here and that as far as he knew the Boston consulate will not be closed. Offices of the Italian consulate here are at 31 St. James ave., the Park Sq. Building.—Editor's note.

Phraseology of the department's announcement indicated that similar action might be taken against other foreign consulates.

In the case of Germany, however, the United States has not been forced to close any consulates in that country. Germany has required the closing of American consulates in some German-occupied countries.

Italy has more than 60 consulates or consular agent offices in the United States.

The American consulates at Naples and Palermo were ordered closed by the Italian government along with all other foreign consulates in those cities on the ground that they were within military areas.

Whether they have already been closed has not been learned here yet but it was planned to transfer the personnel to the Rome embassy.

The Italian government also has restricted the movements of American Ambassador William Phillips and his staff in Rome, as well as American correspondents.

The Italian embassy here, denying published reports that Italian consuls in this country were engaged in political activities, issued a statement last October that the consuls had always strictly limited their activities to their legal consular functions and that Italian nationals had kept apart from any so-called "un-American activities."

CONSUL SILENT ON U. S. ORDER

NEWARK, N. J., March 6 (AP)—Giulio Pascucci, vice-consul in charge of the Italian consulate here since Saturday, declined comment today on a State Department request that Italy close its consulates in Newark and Detroit.

"Since I have no official notice I cannot comment," he said.

Michigan Power Strike Threat Ends

LANSING, Mich., March 6 (AP)—Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner announced today that management and union have agreed to arbitrate the differences which led A. F. ofL. unionists to threaten a strike against the Consumers Power Co., utility serving gas and electricity to 2,000,000 Michigan customers.

Reds Mass Troops at Ruman Line

BUDAPEST, March 6 (INS)—War fears mounted steadily in the Balkans today with reports that Russia is massing huge troop reinforcements in Black sea regions facing Rumania. Details of the reported Soviet troop movements were lacking, but they served to arouse new apprehension in Rumania.

Nazi Army Rolls Toward Greek Border

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 6 (AP)—The general staff of the German expeditionary force, headed by Field Marshal Gen. Sigmund List, called on King Boris III, the war ministry and foreign affairs ministry today while Nazi forces continued their sweep southeast within Bulgaria.

Waves of bomber planes were continuing to arrive from the north.

Motorized equipment, field kitchens, supply trucks and oil tank cars now also are following the troops, tanks and artillery which for days have been pouring through Balkan passes.

U.S. Asks Nazis Free Nun

The State Department in Washington and Dr. Herbert Scholz, German consul in Boston, today began negotiations with Nazi authorities seeking to obtan release of an American-born nun, Sister Angeline DeJesu, reported held in a concentration camp in occupied France.

Diplomatic exchanges came after the nun's mother, Mrs. Anna Lambert Bouthet, 63, of Berlin, N. H., sought government intercession to win her daughter's freedom.

A member of the Order of Colates of Bethania, Sister DeJesu had been unreported in this country since last May, when France surrendered, until a letter reached here this week.

PLEAD FOR MOTHER

Secretary of State Cordell Hull was reported as seeking an immediate explanation, while Berlin, N. H., authorities also asked that Dr. Schos give them his every aid.

The nun's mother, who has been confined to a hospital for two years, found Berlin officials and other townspeople quick to plead her cause.

Both Mayor Aime Tondreau and the Berlin City Council telephoned to the State Department as soon as the letter from France verified that Sister DeJesu still was alive.

13 HELD IN CAMP

In her letter home, the young nun said she and 13 other sisters of her order were in a concentration camp at Basancon, which the Nazis took over soon after they marched into France.

"To be able to write each other—it is an unexpected pleasure," the letter said.

"We are all in very good health. In love of Jesus, I remain united to you and offer my best wish for Christmas and New Year. Mother, kindly bless me, so that I'll be able to serve Jesus with all my soul, in life and death. Your loving child, who prays for you . . ."

The letter was written on folding, self-sealing type of correspondence such as used by soldiers writing home from France in the last war. It was dated Dec. 13, 1940, and bore both French and German postmarks.

The young nun is one of nine children, of whom six have joined religious orders. Their grandfather was the first French Canadian to serve in the Berlin municipal government as selectman in 1887.

Sister DeJesu became a nun in July, 1936, and two years later sailed from Quebec for France.

JOHN ROOSEVELT
Recuperates in Capital

John Roosevelt Has Minor Operation

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—John Roosevelt, the President's youngest son, is recuperating at the White House from a minor operation.

White House officials said the operation was in no way serious and that John was getting along nicely. He was operated on several days ago at Naval Hospital.

Carol to Pay Spain Hotel

SEVILLE, Spain, March 6 (AP)—Ex-King Carol II of Rumania telephoned today from Lisbon to the hotel where he stayed here to assure hotel officials that the bill he left when he escaped would be "paid in full."

The former monarch, who eluded guards and fled over the border into Portugal Monday with his friend, Magda Lupescu, also gave instructions that four of her dogs be left in care of the Infante Alfonso de Orleans, who is related both to him and the late King Alfonso XIII of Spain.

Carol said he was feeling "very well," but did not disclose his future plans. Previously, he has been represented as seeking permission to enter the United States.

Former Dorchester Boy Dies in England

Kenneth Wood-Sims, 20, formerly of Dorchester and a graduate of Dorchester schools, died in England when stricken ill in Royal Air Force service, it was learned here today.

Word of his death was received by Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hanlon of Park st., Dorchester, to whom the youth's mother wrote. The aviator attended Champlain and Oliver Wendell Holmes schools and left several years ago to live in England.

Aluminum Ice Trays In Refrigerators Face Defense Ban

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—The Prosaic family refrigerator is going to be called upon to do its part for the defense program.

The Office of Production Management, it was learned today, plans to ask all refrigerator manufacutrers to eliminate aluminum ice trays from future models as a means of saving the metal now needed badly for defense industries.

Trays of glass, plastics or other metals have been mentioned as substitutes.

Son Jim Hints He'll Wed His Nurse Soon

Jimmy Roosevelt's nurse will become Jimmy's wife any day now.

The news leaked out in Hollywood when President Roosevelt's eldest son, asked if the wedding date had been set for March 18, grinned and observed, "I think they've got the date wrong."

James Roosevelt

His backhand admission ended a year's rumors and the whispered gossip of socialites which broke shortly after Roosevelt was divorced by the former Betsy Cushing of Boston last March 7 in Los Angeles.

Jimmy's name has been persistently linked romantically with that of Miss Romelle Therese Schneider, 25, daughter of a Winconsin tavern keeper who helped nurse him back to health at the Mayo Clinic and later in California.

Through the months following Betsy Cushing's sensational divorce action, the Roosevelt scion has dodged questions of his romantic intentions beyond admitting last March that he "will have to wait" the legal year's time limit before planning a second marriage.

Now, with his plans admittedly heading once again to the altar, Jimmy seemed most anxious to avoid a formal ceremony. He hinted that he and Romelle would wed quietly, when they saw an opportunity to dodge as much publicity as possible.

ARMY CHIEF URGES BIGGER HUB AIRPORT

Enlargement of Boston airport and construction of an auxiliary airport at Bedford are necessary for national defense, Maj. Charles Wooley ofthe Army Air Corps, told the legislative Committee on Military Affairs and Public Safety at a State House hearing.

Maj. Wooley, who was formerly in charge of the Massachusetts National Guard Air Corps, declared that representatives of the War, Navy and Civil Aeronautics Department recently made a study of United States airport needs and selected 638 for improvement or construtcion. This number, he added, was reduced to 250 because of lack of funds.

URGED BEDFORD PORT

"In the first list improvement of Boston airport and construction of an auxiliary airport at Bedford figured prominently," said Wooley.

"When the number was reduced to 250 they still figured prominently. The War Department believes that the enlargement of Boston airport and construction of an auxiliary airport at Bedford are necessary for national defense."

Governor Saltonstall's recommendations before the committee call for appropriation of $10,000 by the state for purchase of land at Bedford for construction of an auxiliary field where planes may land while the Boston airport is fog-bound and the termination of the Boston airport lease this year and reimbursement to the City of Boston for money spent for improvements.

The state would take over the airport and a bulkhead costing $500,000 would be built after which the federal government would dredge the harbor in its vicinity.

MANY FAVOR PLAN

Robert Cutler, corporation counsel of the city of Boston, told the committee that the city is willing to take part in such a "sensible undertaking."

Chandler Hovey, chairman of the Massachusetts Aeronautics Commission, said:

"The whole layout of the airport is inadequate. We expect 40-passenger, four-motored transports here; we expect transcontinental lines other than American Airlines; we expect New England Airlines to operate D-3's instead of small Lockheeds.

"Because of short runways Boston is not even included in the 25 airports selected to test blind landing equipment.

"Boston is greatly handicapped by lack of an auxiliary field."

Atty. Claude L. Allen, representing the Chamber of Commerce, also favored the move.

Others in favor included Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., chairman of the aviation committee of New England Council; Herman MacDonald, Gen. Richard K. Hale, Crocker Snow, Richard Parkhurst, O. D. Fellows and R. B. Greeley.

East Boston Woman Dies of Burns

Badly burned after flames from a kitchen stove had ignited her clothing in her home yesterday, Mrs. Bertha Shaeffer, 55, of Saratoga st., East Boston, died in Boston City Hospital today.

Screaming with pain, the woman ran from her kitchen yesterday after the tragedy occurred and rolled herself in a rug toput out the fire. Neighbors, aroused by her cries, called the fire department.

Man in Girls' Room Can't Explain It All

How to explain away two baked potatoes and $2.85 in pennies in his pockets when hauled from a clothes closet in the bedroom of two Roxbury girls was just too much for Bernard Collins, Eastport, Me., fisherman, in Roxbury cvourt today.

He was short on explanations and did not even offer the old gag of "waiting for a street car," in the Hillside st. apartment when arraigned on a charge of breaking and entering—a dramatic entry, according to police, in the midst of a radio crime thriller.

Collins just pleaded guilty and let it go at that, as one of the complainants, Miss Claire Hayden, 22, sister of Jean F., 24, claimed the collection of coppers belonged to her. He implied to Judge Frankland W. L. Miles that alcoholic stimulants may have had something to do with his predicament.

Judge Miles solution was to continue the fisherman on shore leave, holding him in $5000 for the grand jury.

Officer's Togs In New Guard Cost Him $110

The uniforms for officers of the new Massachusetts State Guard were shown today for the first time.

Cost of a complete outfit to each officer is expected to run to about $110.

The first uniform was moedlled by Col. Herbert F. Hartwell, estate executive and head of the quartermaster and transportation section of he gutard.

Teh uniforms, in spruce green serge similar to the color of the CCC uniforms, were designed by Col. Hartwell and Gen. Erland Fish, hea dof the state guard.

Officers of the Harding-Uniform & Regalia Co., which made the first uniform, said about 400 officers would be in the new guard, all needing similar outfits.

An outfit includes a campaign hat ($9.50), overseas cap ($2.50), blouse and pair of trousers ($35), pair of tan military field shoes ($10), pair of tan dress oxfords ($10), green slicker ($9.75), green mackinaw ($28.50), khaki shirt ($1.75), white or green dress shirt ($1.75), black crepe or barathea tie ($1).

Though all thise prices are tentative, a quick glance shows there won't be much change form $110.

O'Hara Inquest On March 13

TAUNTON, March 6—In a conference with police and state motor vehicle officials today, Judge Frederick E. Austin set March 13 as the date for an inquest into the death of Walter E. O'Hara, former race track owner and industrialist.

Present at the conference with Judge Austin were Richard B. O'Connor, state motor vehicle inspector, and T. Edward Young, deputy police chief of Taunton.

Meanwhile it was learned that Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Lounsbury of Simsbury, Ct., whose car was involved in the head-on collision on the Providence-Taunton turnpike in which O'Hara was killed, were operated on at Morton Hospital. Both are still on the danger list.

Goodwin After Men Army Spurns

Massachusetts motorists who claim exemption from army duty because of defects such as poor eyesight may lose their right to operate automobiles.

Motor Vehicle Registrar Frank A. Goodwin revealed today that such an agreement had been reached on the recommendation of the State selective service board as he suspended the license of a Lynn man who claimed an exemption on the ground that he was an epileptic.

"If they can't see well enough to see the enemy," said Goodwin, "they can't see well enough to locate pedestrians on the streets."

Goodwin said men turned down by the Selective Service Board because of "serious" heart trouble, might lose their driving licenses too.

"If there is any danger of the driver dropping dead or fainting," Goodwin said, "he will be taken off the road, but if the heart ailment is not too bad, we will let him keep his license."

Persons with bad teeth or deafness which may keep a man out of the Army were listed as unaffected by the new ruling.

"But I want to stress," Goodwin said, "that anyone claiming exemption for epilepsy, will absolutely lose his license. He has no right to be driving a car on our highways."

Bandit Gang Hunted in 3 Cities

Squads of police combed Ma'den, Medford and Melrose today for two men with cuts and torn clothing as members of a bandit gang who traded shots with police and escaped after a breakneck chase.

In the biggest Greater Boston manhunt in months, more than 50 officers with drawn guns watched highways and combed wastelands, warned the men had already fired on two Metropolitan District policemen.

The gang, racing to freedom after staging a $123 stickup in the M. and H. liquor store in Salem st., Medford, were spotted by Patrolmen Charles E. Blood and Daniel J. Lynch near the Fellsway station.

The officers took up the chase to halt the speeders, then learned by radio the car was sought for the holdup. When Officer Blood fired a warning shot, the bandits blasted away at the police car, one slug missing Patrolman Blood by inches as it ripped into the police car's roof.

The chase reached speeds of 70-miles-per-hour through Pine st. into Malden, then back through the Fellsway and ended with the bandit car crashing into a curb in Murray rd., Malden.

The trio fled into woods in the rear of the Malden Hospital as officers from five cities converged on the area. A South End man picked up a mile away by Melrose police was held at the Medford police station.

The holdup, which touched off the chase and gun duel, threw the Haines sq., Medford, district into an uproar. Pedestrians joined the victims, including the proprietor, Theodore Hurwitz, 29, of Ferndale st., Brookline, in a foot chase after the gang.

British Loss Only 525 Men in War on Italians in Africa

LONDON, March 6 (AP)—The government told Parliament today that the British army had lost only 525 men in the entire campaign against Italy in Africa and the Middle East.

Capt. H. D. R. Margesson, war secretary, said of these 438 were killed and 87 listed as missing. An additional 1249 were wounded.

Margesson gave the figures in presenting the army budget, the exact figures of which are kept secret.

Fighter Bull Bested Gets One More Try

MEXICO CITY, March 6 (AP)—Matador Lorenzo Garza, who lost a bull fight to the bull last Sunday, is going to get another chance next Sunday—and he had better be brilliant.

The government amusement office fined him 1000 pesos (about $200) because he failed to dispatch a bull in nine attempts in last Sunday's corrida and government sources said further punitive measures were under consideration because of the protests of 30,000 fans.

These measures, they said, might mean cancellation of all Garza's contracts for the season—at 18,000 pesos (about $3500) the contract.

The bull ring management seized the opportunity to advertise in all Mexico City newhpapers urging the fans to give Garza another chance next Sunday. It predicted the temperamental matador "again will scale the heights of emotion and glory."

Garza, long one of the biggest drawing cards in Mexican arenas, suffered the supreme disgrace Sunday of having the bull removed alive from the ring by public petition after his nine thrusts had failed. Police had to escort the matador from the ring.

COW'S HUSBAND . . . . . . Sometimes Wins

His defenders said he had not been at his best since he was horned in December.

Some experts say his whole career is in jeopardy. Unless he displays brilliance and artistry Sunday, the fans may boycott him. A similar incident occurred 10 years ago and the famous matador, David Liceaga, was in effect barred from Mexico's bull rings.

Anyhow, it looks like a sellout for Sunday.

Dog's Collapse Bares 3 Deaths From Coal Gas

NEW YORK, March 6 (AP)—An aged dog's collapse at the feet of his master today led to the discovery that coal gas fumes had seeped through one wing of a 45-story apartment house in West 163d st., taking the lives of a mother and two children and affecting five other persons.

Sigmund Spielberger's wife, Josephine, complained of being ill when she awakened. He called a phyeician. A few minutes later he took his 11-year-old dog, Buddy, for an airing and the dog collapsed in the street.

Alarmed, Spielberger ran back to to his apartment to awaken his three sons. The eldest, Seymour, 19, collapsed as he moved out of bed. When he was found to be suffering from coal gas poisoning, police and the building superintendent went to other apartments. They found Mrs. Harry Geller, her daughter, Jean, 14, and her son, Bernard, 21, dead and three members of another family ill.

BOY, 16, HELD FOR MURDER OF TEACHER

DES MOINES, Ia., March 6 (AP—Knocked down by a 16-year-old pupil, A. H. Horsburgh, 61, veteran North High School teacher, died today of a fractured skull.

The student, Elmer Albaugh, was arraigned on a first degree murder charge.

Before arraignment, the youth sobbed loudly in his cell.

"I'm sorry," he moaned, "I didn't mean to kill him. I was just mad."

Witnesses said Albaugh struck Horsburgh with his fist and that the instructor fell, striking his head against a door and then on floor. Albaugh said he hit Horsburgh after the teacher had accussed him of "lying about cutting classes" and "hiding out."

SPRING JUBILEE

*Buick Special Convertible Coupe with Press-A-Button Automatic Top, $1138

WHAT you see here is something more than the very picture of bright and thrilling action and trim fresh styling.

It is something even more than the most talked-about automobile in America—it is the most outstanding Buick in all our long history.

It is selling at record pace—making valued new friends among people heretofore unacquainted with Buick—and it not only holds fourth place in the country as a whole, but in the nation's No. 1 automobile market it holds second place, topped only by one of the lowest-priced cars.

Such a record, when made by a car of Buick's size, power and price, really calls for jubilee, so we're staging one.

In all Buick showrooms, starting March 8, you'll find special displays in fittingly springlike surroundings where you can see, admire, sit in and probe into the year's unquestioned Biggest Hit.

Here you can get the whole story about FIREBALL design that squeezes more good and more mileage out of gasoline—here you can get all the facts (and straight) about Compound Carburetion,* and how it ups mileage as much as 10% to 15% over last year's engines of the same size.

Here you'll see and can try out the very newest Buicks, the four new, more compact Buick SPECIALS that wrap up FIREBALL straight-eight life and ginger in an easy-handling package that is actually roomier inside than some sixes that cost you more.

In a word, here you see the values that set the standard by which all cars are being judged today.

Why not drop in and browse around? The latch string's out—you will be very welcome anytime.

*Optional at extra cost on the Buick SPECIAL, standard equipment on all other series.

BABY BORN OF DEAD MOTHER STILL GAINING

By EDWARD M. MARTIN

Launched into existence in a drama of tragedy, a tiny unnamed baby was winning her fight for life today at Cambridge Municipal Hospital, although hopes for her living 43 days ago were virtually nil.

She is the baby brought prematurely into the world by a Caesarian operation within brief minutes after her mother had died, a victim of pneumonia.

In the still, pre-dawn hush of Jan. 22, as the mother breathed her last, a young interne thus suddenly faced with his first post-morten Caesarian pitted his medical training against almost certain failure—and won out.

CHILD OF SCIENCE

Two months before the normal time, the baby was born with Dr. Richard J. Moran, Jr., the 28-year-old interne, a Tufts Medical School graduate, attending.

Only three pounds 6¼ ounces she weighed, and she was quickly placed in an incubator, a child of sciene who must be kept alive by scienc, and nurtured and coaxed until the thin thread that held her here was strengthened.

Two days ago she was removed from the incubator, weighing 5 pounds 6 ounces. And since her removal she has gained 4 more of those precious ounces. Another day or two and she will have doubled her original weight.

The baby was born following the death of the mother, Mrs. Helen Morin, 24, of Richdale ave., Cambridge.

FATHER ALSO ILL

The father, John Morin, 32, who now is living in Forrest st., Cambridge, was also at the hospital, ill with pneumonia, at the time the baby was born.

Because of his condition he was not told immediately of his young wife's death, or of the post-mortem birth of a daughter, his second.

The other child is Joan Frances Morin, three and one-half years old, who is now with her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Gordon Cooper of Valentine st., Cambridge.

Since the birth, and until a few days ago, Little Unnamed was given feedings under a special method, and two drops of whiskey with each feeding were included in the diet.

Now she is being fed normally with a special formula, and is thriving despite the break in routine.

FATHER DAILY CALLER

Practically each evening, the father, well again now, is a visitor to the hospital, where he gazes into the glassed nursery, his face still showing signs of grief over the loss of his wife.

It will be a week or 10 days yet before the baby is released from the hospital—the day being that on which she registers six pounds.

Then Morin will take her to the home of his mother-in-law, to join her little sister, Joan. The Coopers are planning to move into larger quarters, and then Morin will live with them also.

Thus far Morin hasnt decided on a name for the baby.

INJURED SAILOR HERE

Frederick E. Cotter, 64, of Lexington st., East Boston, fisherman who suffered an injured side aboard the trawler Spray 100 miles at sea, was landed at Commercial wharf today from the Coast Guard cutter Algonquin.

An ambulance took Cotter to the Marine Hospital in Brighton.

Nurse Sets Trap, Lands In Court

Attempting to play detective in the interest of the medical profession backfired on a pretty sutdent nurse at the Home for Aged Women, South Huntington ave., in municipal court today.

Accused of attempting to use a forged prescription for drugs, Miss Daisy Freeland, 28, declared she presented the prescription at a Huntington ave. pharmacy in order to trap a stranger who asked her to do a favor. Judge John G. Brackett imposed a suspended sentence of one month in the House of Correction.

The girl, according to the police, was taken into custody in the drug store. She told police a man stopped her outside a theater in the neighborhoo dand asked her to get the prescription filled while he waited for a friend.

PLANNED TRAP

Told this was an emergency for a cancer patient, the girl said she agreed, took $1.75 from the man, and on the way to the store glanced at the paper and saw it was an order for an opiate.

The prescription "looked funny," the girl said, but she determined to go through with the plan because of her interest in nursing and medicine—trap a violator of the drug law if the prescription was not bona fide.

At the store she was told that filling the prescription was against the law and that she could be arrested. She invited the druggist to call the police and remained until their arrival.

John T. Donahue, counsel for the nurse, put two officials of the Home on the stand as character witnesses.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED

They testified Miss Freeland had an excellent reputation and that possibly her outstanding characteristic was kindliness.

Atty. Donahue told the court that this characteristic and the girl's interest in nursing were responsible for her appearance in court.

Judge Brackett gave Miss Freeland the choie of a suspended sentence or of a sentence open to appeal. After a bench onference Miss Freeland chose the suspension.

March 17 Parade May Be Costly

South Boston ended its feud with the Army today on learning soldiers will be allowed to march in its Evacuation Day parade, March 17, but civic leaders were left to ponder on the question of who would foot the bill.

With the old National Guard now on duty at Camp Edwards, it took a determined battle and a trip to Washington by parade officials to change the Army's mind and permit the Yankee Division's 101st Infantry and the crack 68th Coast Artillery to join in the big parade.

But, said the Army in effect to Parade Marshal John S. Flaherty, it will be up to civilians to pay expenses of bringing the doughboys up from the Cape for the day.

Perhaps that was in the mind of State Legislators today as they mulled over a bill by Rep. John E. Powers of South Boston. The bill, already engrossed by the House, sets aside March 17 as a legal holiday in Suffolk County for all organizations—except banks.

347 Greater Boston Selectees Inducted

With all officials working faster and under new regulations requiring stricter surveillance of visitors, the Army swore in all but eight of 355 Greater Boston draftees today.

The selective Service trainees came from Boston's West End, Cambridge, Revere, Medford, Malden and Marshfield, and were dispatched on a late afternoon train for Camp Edwards.

Among the new soldiers were three Boston American-Record employes, Timothy Foley of Malden, Frank Quinn of Medford, both staff artists, and William Doherty of the West End, circulation department executive.

The rejection rate took a big drop in the day's examinations, after hitting a new high of 22 per cent yesterday.

Meanwhile anti-aircraft maneuvers occupied the attention of Massachusetts soldiers, as other New Englanders prepared for movement of 10,993 men to Florida.

A complete defense setup to protect a mythical target at the Cape camp has been worked out, and some 800 soldiers in 150 vehicles will be assigned to the fast-moving work of staving off an air attack by at least one plane from the 101st Observation Squdaron.

The 68th Coast Artillery is handling the anti-aircraft assignment, and men of the headquarters battery, a battery of 50-caliber machine guns and three units of 37 automatic cannon will train on the northeast firing range some four miles beyond the camp proper.

The Florida trip, biggest New England troop movement since departures overseas in 1917, will be reserved for members of the 43d Division and the 172d Field Artillery, a separate regiment. They will go in 42 trains to Camp Blanding, with a 100-truck convoy of Maine soldiers leading the way over the road.

Sam Harris 'Poor' After Operation

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 6 (INS)—Producer Sam Harris, 69, was reported in a "rather poor" condition today following an emergency appendectomy.

Although the operation was described as a success and the recovery satisfactory, physicians said Harris' general condition was unsatisfactory. Mrs. Harris remained in an adjoining room in the hospital.

FILES SUIT—Mrs. Verna T. Werrenrath today had filed suit in San Francisco to divorce Reinald Werrenrath, noted baritone . . . charging cruelty.

Haverhill Fire Maniac Strikes

HAVERHILL, March 6—A fresh wave of fear swept this city today as authorities revealed that the maniac who set fires which killed three persons a week ago has struck again.

This time it was a three story apartment house in Jackson st., and only timely discovery by a resident, Reginald Dawkins, prevented a serious conflagration.

Dawkins found wallpaper in a rear entry charred and strips of paper unrolled to aid the blaze. The fire, however, had burned out before it could ignite the woodwork and sweep up the staircase.

Whether the firebug was in hiding near the house waiting to return and touch off the blaze again could not be determined, but Dawkins' alarm brought a heavy protective detail of police and firemen.

Farm Exports Hit New Low

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—The world's desperate bidding for "guns instead of butter" has caused the volume of American agricultural exports to sink to the lowest levels since 1869.

Commerce Department statistics revealed today that in January American farm exports represented only $22,660,000 out of a total of $325,355,000 foreign trade—or less than 7 per cent, according to preliminary figures.

Milk Bars Urged For All U. S. Army Training Camps

PHILADELPHIA, March 6 (AP)—The dairy industry is considering the advisability of establishing milk bars at Army training camps.

The question was presented to the Northeastern Dairy Conference, attended by representatives of the industry from 12 Northeastern states, by Dr. F. A. Ferregaux of the University of Vermont, who also said members should consider whether "consumption habits required by a more vigorous outdoor life will carry over into civilian life when these boys return from camps."

SECRET PLAN FOR U. S. WOMEN TO AID DEFENSE

By MARIE MANNING
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 6—A sweeping plan for nation-wide volunteer mobilization of men and women into "home defense" groups is being prepared by the administration, the program springing from a proposal made by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt last December to mold the women into a cohesive organization to bolster national defense.

Although originally conceived for women by the First Lady, the plan was broadened and reduced to writing "at the request of the President" by Mrs. Florence Kerr, deputy WPA administrator.

Subsequently it was turned over to Paul V. McNutt, director of defense welfare and recreation, for expansion to include men in non-military categories.

F. D. CALLS STORY LIE

At the White House today, Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early was questioned about a story concerning the plan. Early replied that he had queried the President on the story and that Mr. Roosevelt had branded it a "cock-eyed lie."

The story appeared in a Washington paper to the effect that Mrs. Roosevelt with the co-operation of the President, had prepared a plan calling for the nation-wide mobilization of women for defense.—Editor's Note.

As Early made his comment, an International News Service correspondent in the office of another Washington official, was examining a lengthy document bearing Mrs. Kerr's name and labeled: "Prepared at the request of the President." It was captioned: "Plan for volunteer mobilization of women."

CHIEF PURPOSE CITED

One of the major purposes, as explained in the document, would be to provide an avneeu of "communication" between the President and the people. It said further:

"The home defense commission will provide the President of the United States with a unified nation-wide organization which will be capable of flexibility and readjustment to meet any of the unpredictable needs of war or peace. It will be so tightly organized that it can respond without delay and with unanimous action to meet new situations."

As prepared by Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Kerr the plan originally called for volunteers to learn Spanish; study first aid, traffic safety, health and hygiene, and the preparation of food at a minimum waste and maximum nutrition value; to organize into home defense patrols; to train young girls for volunteer leadership, and to organize community and vocational units.

HOLD SECRET MEETING

First disclosure of the plan was made at a secret White House meeting called by Mrs. Roosevelt Jan. 7 and attended by virtually every prominent woman official in Washington, including Secretary of Labor Perkins, Katherine Lenroot of the Child Welfare Bureau, Mary Anderson of the Women's Bureau, Harriett Elliott of the National Defense Commission, wives of several Cobiet officers and Supreme Court justices and all women members of Congress except Miss Caroline O'Day who was ill.

Mrs. Roosevelt, greeting the gathering, began by swearing everyone to deepest secrecy. She asked that anyone not prepared to keep the secret to leave the room. No one left. Mrs. Kerr then read a long paper outlining the plan.

Later the plan was read to a group of high male officials by Mr. Roosevelt and decision was reached to have McNutt revamp it.

Draft Armed Force Aid Bill Amendment

WASHINGTON March 6 (AP)—Administration leaders disclosed today they were drafting a compromise amendment to the British aid bill which may restrict the use of American land and naval forces in foreign areas.

Chairman George (D.) of Georgia said members of the Foreign Relations Committee who are friendly to the administration bill had drafted in tentative form a proposal which might be submitted as a substitute for the pending amendment by Sen. Ellender (D.) of Louisiana, which would insert into the bill a statement of policy that American armed forces should not be sent out of the Western Hemisphere.

George said he personally was opposed to a specific limitation involving the Western Hemisphere because it might be interpreted wrongly by Japan as an indication that this country was weakening in its stand against aggression in the Far East.

WANTS FINAL APPROVAL

Emphasizing that the amendment had not yet received final approval of the group, George said that, if it was offered in its present form, it would be calculated to meet not only the demand that American armed forces not be involved in conflict anywhere in the world, but would act also as a prohibition against American ships entering combat zones, or the convoying of shipments of war materials by American naval units.

He said that if the amendment were found to be satisfactory to the supporters of the bill, he might offer it later in the day as a substitute for the Ellinder proposal.

F. D. HANDS OFF

Downtown, Stephen T. Early, presidential secretary, told reporters that the White House, neither through President Roosevelt nor anyone else, was "exercising any pressure or using anyone to vote for or against or be present or paired on any amendment" to the bill.

He said the President was "keeping his hands off" and so was everyone else.

George declined to reveal the language of the tentative amendment but Sen. Harrison (D.) of Mississippi told reporters that it was designed to cover most of the major objections opponents have raised to the bill.

"We are trying to work something out that will be satisfactory to everybody and will help remove some of the sore spots which have developed," Harrison said.

NO. 1 VOTE-GETTER

Supporters of the British aid measure regarded the Ellender proposal as a No. 1 vote-getter, conceding that it probably would develop the high point of opposition strength.

However, Chairman George said, "I am sure we have the votes to beat the Ellender amendment," and Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky predicted it would be rejected, with as many as 10 votes to spare.

On the other hand, Ellender claimed a majority of from one to three votes.

Although most Administration leaders turned thumbs down on all amendments pertaining to troop movements, one report said there was still an outside chance that some compromise might be accepted.

Likely compromise amendments included one by Senator O'Mahoney (D.) of Wyoming to state that American armed forces should not be used to deliver war equipment abroad and one by Senator Clark (D.) of Missouri, to forbid the use of any funds appropriated under the legislation for the transportation of soldiers or sailors outside the Western Hemisphere.

HOPES FOR ADOPTION

Senator Wheeler (D.) of Montana, an opposition leader, expressed hope the Ellender amendment would be adopted. Its approval, he told reporters, would demonstrate that "Congress at least is determined to keep American boys from going abroad to fight."

"If the President is not going to take us into war," Wheeler asked, "what excuse could there be for not writing in such a mild amendment?"

AID BILL FOES SAY IT IN SONG

Illinois Folk Warn Lucas of War

WASHINGTON, March 6 (INS)—Senator Lucas (D.) of Illinois, supporter of the lease-lend bill, today probably had a little ditty ringing in his ears, urging him to vote against the bill.

Arriving at a radio station last night to make an address favoring the measure, he was cornered by a messenger boy who sang this telegram, from the War Referendum Council in Chicago, to the tune of "Yankee Doodle":

"When Illinois elected you, you promised to be true, sir;
"You said you wouldn't vote for war and we believed in you, sir.
"So please don't vote for any bill like 1776, sir;
"For if you do we'll be in war, and you'll be in a fix, sir.
"We'll give millions for defense, and then some millions more, sir;
"But not one boy and not one cent for any foreign war, sir.
"We won't have Hitler over here, we'll stand for no dictator;
"But things demanded by that bill, belong to our Creator.
"So please don't vote our rights away in this darkest hour,
"And don't give to any man such vast and God-like power."

Poll Shows 57 Senators Approve Bill

WASHINGTON, March 6 (INS)—A poll of the Senate disclosed today that the Administration has 57 votes, a definite majority, committed for passage of the lease-lend bill.

With the Senate membership at 95, the latest lineup is: For—49 Democrats, seven Republicans and one Independent. Against—17 Republicans, 10 Democrats and one Progressive. Non-committal or unannounced—Six Democrats and four Republicans. The breakdown follows:

Nantasket Ship Plan Approved

Reorganization plan of the Nantasket Beach Steamboat Co. was approved in Federal district court today by Judge Elisha H. Brewster who set March 20 as the date for approval by creditors.

Atty. Mayo A. Shattuck said the Legislature has approved an act authorizing the town of Hull to borrow $130,000 to purchase company real estate, and that a special town meeting Saturday night will take action on authorization of the loan.

Shattuck said the $130,000 would be sufficient to discharge mortgages and make a settlement with the creditors.

The Webster National Bank of Boston, to Mr. Shattuck said, has agreed to accept $63,000 in full settlement of its mortgages. Tietjen and Lang Drydock Co. of New Jersey, he said, has agreed to accept $30,000 for its mortgage on the steamship Town of Hull.

BRITISH SINK 11 NAZI SHIPS IN NORWAY RAID

LONDON, March 6 (AP)—British and Allied Norwegian forces sank 11 ships under German command and captured 225 prisoners in a surprise raid Tuesday on the Lofoten Islands off the coast of Norway, an official announcement said today.

A joint communique of the British admiralty and the Norwegian refugee government said the raid had three objects—destruction of a fish oil plant, sinking of German shipping and the taking of prisoners.

"All objects of the raid were carried out with considerable success," the communique reported.

"Nine German merchant vessels and one Norwegian ship under German control were sunk and also a German armed trawler. Losses inflicted upon enemy shipping totaled approximately 18,000 tons.

"The largest unit sunk was a German ship of about 10,000 tons which was fully laden."

The Lofoten Islands stretch for about 150 miles along the Norwegian coast and guard the approaches to Narvik Fjord.

Today's announcement said the prisoners included 215 Germans and 10 "Quislings"—pro-Nazi Norwegians. A number of Norwegian "patriots" desirous of joining their countrymen in Britain also were reported brought back.

A large consignment of fruit, foodstuffs, soap, cigarettes and clothing was taken by the British to the Norwegian population of the Lofotens, which have been without such items since the German occupation, the communique said.

A plant used for the production of fish oil was destroyed, it was added.

Hub Surgeon Ruled Suicide

A verdict of suicide in the death of Dr. Bryant Davis Wetherell, 52, well-known surgeon, was rendered today by Medical Examiner William J. Brickley.

His body was found in his Commonwealth ave., Back Bay, office with gas flowing from an open jet in a testing laboratory. He is survived by his second wife, Mrs. Caroline Seeckts Wetherell, with whom he resided in Beaconfield rd., Brookline.

Last October he was reported missing by Mrs. Wetherell after he had left for a trip to Marion, Cape Cod. Several days later he was located at the Scarsdale, N. Y., home of his sister.

Weygand Back To See Petain

VICHY, France, March 6 (AP)—General Maxime Weygand, commander of the French forces in North Africa, arrived by plane this afternoon for his first face to face consultation with Chief of State Marshal Petain in five months.

He was accompanied by two officers. All wore civilian clothes. Weygand went immediately to the Parc Hotel, where Petain has his headquarters.

The government announced last night that Weygand had arrived in Vichy, but today it explained that this premature announcement was issued deliberately as a "blind" intended to cover his real movements.

An official announcement today said Weygand came "to report his inspection tour of French African possessions." He left Vichy for that trip October 5.

Singapore Tests Out Its Defense

SINGAPORE, March 6 (AP)—Army, navy and air force exercises based on the assumption that war with an imaginary foe is to break out Saturday got under way today, tied up with orders for a partial blackout of this British Far Eastern stronghold the next two nights.

British, Australian, Indian and Malayan regulars took part in the opening maneuvers. The orders for Sunday were to carry on as usual and Monday and Tuesday "to receive or attack the enemy."

There was nothing, however, to indicate that the maneuvers were expected to be more than practice.

U. S. Defense Stamps, Bonds Ready May 1

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau said today the Treasury would begin the public sale of defense savings stamps certificates and bonds on May 1.

He indicated that the campaign probably would start with the purchase of the first bond by President Roosevelt.

The Treasury Secretary gave no details, but tentative decisions have indicated that the new securities will range from 10-cent stamps for children to $1000 bonds for bankers.

British Get Helium France Once Bought

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—Secretary Ickes today authorized Great Britain to take over 500,000 cubic feet of the helium gas originally sold to France.

The gas was sold to France for research and medical purposes, but was halted at Halifax, N. S., when France surrendered. Under Ickes' authorization it will now be used in this country in connection with British industrial contracts.

NAZI BOMBER DOWNED

LONDON, March 6 (AP)—A British flying boat in an encounter with two hostile bombers over the Atlantic yesterday shot down one and severely damaged the other, the ministry reported today.

Germans Reveal Even Thoughts Mean Death Penalty for Dutch

AMSTERDAM (Via Berlin), March 6 (AP)—The president of the German military court which has condemned 18 Netherlanders to death told the Dutch people today that everyone who, even in thought, plots against the German army is playing with his life.

He disclosed many sabotage cases are awaiting German court-martial proceedings. Most of those already sentenced to death were charged with spying for England and plotting to co-operate with the British army in the event of an invasion.

The trial which resulted in the convictions Tuesday revealed a secret Dutch organization had been active from May until last December, especially in the Dutch region nearest the English channel.

CITES KILLING OF NAZIS

German authorities, the court president asserted, regretted that several German soldiers had been pushed into the water and drowned or fallen victims of snipers as a result of the Dutch underground organization.

The hearing developed a declaration that the plotters circulated pamphlets written in invisible ink advocating acts of cruelty against German soldiers. The prosecutor also said he was shocked on hearing of a plan to poison Nazi troopers with acids.

In all there were 43 defendants. Six were acquitted. The 19 who escaped the death penalty were imprisoned for various terms. Verdicts were handed down Tuesday.

Defense attorneys have a chance to appeal for mercy and it was not indicated when the executions, by shooting, would take place if appeals were denied.

FOUR DEATHS FOR ONE MAN

One defendant was sentenced to death four times and, in addition, got a 10-year prison term. Another was sentenced to death three times. Most of those who got only one death penalty also were sentenced to imprisonment.

There is no death penalty under Netherlands law. It was introduced by German authorities. So far one man has been executed.

Witnesses in the five-day court-martial described an extensive but loosely organized conspiracy which was fostered by a secret society known as the "Geuzen." That is the name by which the Dutch soldier was known in the 80-year war against Spain.

The conspirators, it was charged, were prepared for any terrorism, some directed at German troops. Officers said they found stores of dynamite, arms and poison.

Some of the accused even spoke of a "Moffen cocktail." Moffen is a colloquial Dutch name for Germans and the Moffen cocktail allegedly was a mixture of poison to have been administered in various forms.

LEADERS STILL HUNTED

Some defendants were vague as to the purpose of the secret society. They said they did not know their superiors, and the supreme leader apparently escaped German investigators.

Other testimony indicated some had given signals to British airmen and conspired against the safety of German troops.

The organization apparently had few, if any, Dutch soldiers as members but there was a semi-military organization. The leader who escaped, said to be a 43-year-old Netherlander, was known as "Colonel Verdun."

There was a mysterious setup of passwords, ceremonies and forms of recognition.

Prosecutors said the dynamiting division's task was to blow up bridges. Another division was charged with spying on the German army.

The defendants, from all parts of Holland, included one teacher and several shipyard workers.

Contrary to practice, Dutch newspapermen were allowed to attend the trial to "convince themselves of the fairness of the proceedings."

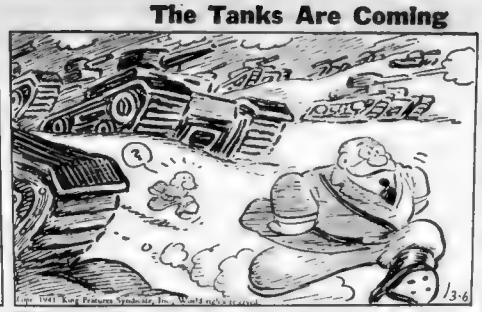
The Tanks Are Coming



GUTZON BORGLUM, SCULPTOR, DIES

CHICAGO, March 6 (AP)—Gutzon Borglum, internationally known sculptor of mountainside memorials, died today in Henrotin Hospital where he had been a patient since Feb. 17.

His physician said Borglum had been operated upon Feb. 17 for a bladder ailment and was convalescing satisfactorily until Sunday, when he suffered an attack of coronary sclerosis. He suffered a second attack this morning.

At his bedside were Mrs. Borglum, the former Mary Montgomery Williams, New York; his son, Lincoln, and his daughter, Mrs. Mary Ellen Daye, Reno, Nev.

Mrs. Borglum suffered a wrist fracture two weeks ago when she fell on an icy sidewalk while en route to the hospital.

AGE NOT CERTAIN

Records showed discrepancies in Borglum's age. Lincoln said his father would have been 71 years old on March 25.

When he entered the hospital, Borglum gave his age as 69 which conformed with recent editions of "Who Who," but earlier editions gave his age as 73.

Borglum was the son of Dr. James de la Mothe Borglum, who went West with the Mormons and practiced general medicine in Nebraska for many years.

Borglum's greatest work—described as colossal without fear of overstatement—was the Mt. Rushmore Memorial, hewn into the side of a mountain in the Black Hills of South Dakota. The group consists of gigantic faces of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt. The sculptor had expected to complete the work this year.

SON TO FINISH JOB

Borglum's son, Lincoln, who was assistant to his father, said today the actual work on the faces was completed before his father left the site about Feb. 1, and that he expected to finish the work, principally cleaning up rough stone around the coats and hands of the figures.

The Herst newspapers sponsored a nation-wide contest for inscriptions to accompany the giant figures.—Editor's Note.

An earlier undertaking of similar scope was a Confederate memorial on the side of Stone mountain, near Atlanta, Ga. In 1916 he was called upon to carve a great figure of Gen. Robert E. Lee on the mountainside, but he decided a single statue would be inadequate and designed a work including 1200 figures.

The World War interrupted the task until 1924. After the 20 foot head of Lee was carved, dissension arose among the committee in charge of the memorial and between committeemen and Borglum. The artist was discharged and another man completed the work.

Borglum's war memorial, "Wars of America," in Newark, N. J., was described as the largest bronze group in America at the time of its completion and one of the largest in the world. His Lincoln statue also in Newark, is one of his most popular works.

His work is scattered throughout the country and the world, in public statuary and in the adornment of buildings and homes of art patrons. Among these are the huge figures of the Apostles on the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York, and the 60 gargoyles on the Princeton University dormitory.

As temperamental as the public mind expects an artist to be, Borglum and his superintendent of the Lee Memorial were charged with malicious intent for destroying models for the work when he was dismissed. He submitted his belief in "the inalienable rights of an artist in his own creation" as his defense.

Borglum was born March 25, 1867, in Idaho, and was a brother of another noted sculptor, Solon Hannibal Borglum. Gutzon Borglum, whose full name was John Gutzon De La Mothe Borglum, was educated in the Julian Academy and Ecole Des Beaux Arts, Paris, and St. Mary's College, Kansas.

FRENCH YIELD TO JAPS' CHIEF POINTS ON THAI

TOKYO, March 6—Agreement on the "principal points" of Japan's mediation plan to settle the territorial quarrel between French Indo-China and Thailand was announced officially today. Remaining points were being negotiated.

French Ambassador Charles Arsene Henry and Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka conferred for an hour "regarding remaining points of detail, excluding the principal points, which already are agreed to by the French and Thai governments," the Japanese Cabinet Board of Information announced.

After Matsuoka left the French embassy it was said complete agreement was likely "within a few days."

The armistice in the border warfare between the French colony and Thailand is scheduled to expire tomorrow, but probably will be extended.

Japan's mediation plan, which had been presented as her last offer and the minimum acceptable to Thailand is supposed to have required the French to agree to cede large areas of Laos and Cambodia provinces to Thailand.

BETHLEHEM STEEL WAGES AT NEW HIGH

Total wage and salary payments and average earnings of Bethelehem Steel Corp. employes reached new highs in 1940, it was revealed in a report given workers today.

The company, which has thousands of employes at the Fore River and East Boston ship-building plants, stated the average earnings for the year were 94.1 cents per hour, compared with an average of 81.6 cents in 1939.

During the final quarter of 1940, average earnings per hour of Bethlehem employes reached a new high of 96.9. Total wage and salary payments were $212,232,884, an increase of $53,000,000, or 33 per cent over 1939, while the amount available for stockholders increased by $24,000,000.

It is estimated that in 1941 a total of 80,000 employes will be eligible for vacations with pay, 25,000 of them for a two-week vacation.

The report states that although the volume of orders for national defense now on Bethlehem's books is 50 per cent greater than the total value of ships and munitions produced during the World War period, Bethlehem's steel-making capacity is now nearly four times as great.

Dicks Learn Ticks Don't Always Mean Death Bomb

MINNEAPOLIS, March 6 (AP)—A man walked into police headquarters last night and deposited a package before the desk sergeant.

"Listen," he said. And the sergeant heard a "tick-tick, tick-tick" coming from the package.

"I thing it's a time bomb," calmly explained the caller.

"Down the hall, down the hall! Take it to the detective bureau! Dicks take all bomb cases," rattled the sergeant.

A moment later Detective Capt. Clarence McLaskey had the package before him.

"Hear it?" asked the caller as the ominous ticking continued. "Time bomb, I guess."

Quietly the captain tip-toed round his desk, apprehensively eyeing the package.

"Don't have to be afraid to open it," the caller explained. "My wife opened it today."

Cautiously the captain explored and found a wooden box, a metal disc on a shaft at one end and an alarm clock inside. Otherwise there was nothing. No dynamite, just nothing.

The caller identified himself as Emil C. Hanson and said his wife had found the box in the yard at their home.

McLaskey has an alarm clock and a puzzle—and his breath back again.

Editor in Airliner Crash Suggests Way to Call Help

ATLANTA, March 6 (AP)—With the agonized cries of injured passengers still fresh in his memory, a New York editor, victim of a plane crash that cost eight lives, has proposed development of a compressed air siren that would automatically summon aid in such disasters.

Harold A. Littledale, assistant to the managing editor of the New York Times, made the suggestion as he lay in a hospital here critically injured.

ADMIRALTY DENIES NAZI CLAIMS OF SHIP DAMAGE

LONDON, March 6 (AP)—An admiralty statement asserted today that Germany and Italy had claimed to have sunk or seriously damaged 34 British empire battleships or battle cruisers, whereas Britain had only 15 such warships at the outbreak of war.

Amplifying the statement of A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, Before Commons yesterday, that the Axis had claimed to have sunk or seriously damaged more than twice the number of capital ships, aircraft carriers and cruisers Britain possessed at the start of the war. The Admiralty said in some cases units of the fleet had been claimed sunk "several times over."

ONLY DESTROYERS LEFT

Today's statement said Britain possessed seven aircraft carriers while her enemies claimed 13 were sent to the bottom.

Britain had 58 submarines at the start of the war and German and Italian high command communiques, the Admiralty said, had listed 71 accounted for.

Only in the case of destroyers—according to German and Italian claims—did Britain have any warships left. The Admiralty said 185 were on hand in 1939 and 144 have been claimed by the Axis power.

Speculating on the reasons for what was called "this exaggeration," the Admiralty said it was done, apparently, for three reasons.

1—In hope of eliciting a denial which would convey information on the actual strength and disposition of fleet units.

2—To bolster the morale of their own peoples who "are uneasily aware of British naval power."

3—To cause alarm and despondency in enemy-occupied territories and neutral countries and in hope of causing anxiety among relatives and friends.

In merchant shipping claims by the Axis, the Admiralty asserted "exaggeration is just about 100 per cent."

Nazis Claim New Blows at Britain

BERLIN, March 6 (AP)—German warplanes were declared today to have struck smashing new blows at Britain, both at home and in the Mediterranean, while frustrating attempts of the RAF to carry the fight to the Reich.

$1,800,000 Prisoner Camps for India

BOMBAY, March 6 (AP)—Gen. Sir Claude J. E. Auchinleck, commander-in-chief of the British forces in India, said today that Italian prisoners taken in the African campaign and brought to India now numbered approximately 40,300, including 21 generals and one admiral.

Camps for prisoners are being built at a cost of $1,800,000, the commander said, to be charged against the British government.

with the outside world now are in the hands of the military.

Many telegrams and cable messages are being held up to avoid the possibility of transmitting military information (here the Sofia connection with Berlin, to which this dispatch was being relayed, was cut, presumably by the military censor).

Steadily increasing German military preparations in Bulgaria fanned belief that a Nazi invasion of Greece may come at any hour.

Planes from the German fourth air fleet totaling 1700 bombers and fighters, already based in Bulgaria, were reported photographing both Greek and Turkish defenses.

To meet the threat of 150,000 Nazi troops massed along her borders, Greece was said to have concentrated six divisions—totaling 90,000 men—in the mountain passes north of Salonika. Some of these were believed to be veterans of fighting against the Italians in Albania.

London Gets 2 Raid Alarms

LONDON, March 6 (AP)—German air raiders caused two quick alerts in London at the noon hour today but there were no immediate reports of bombs being dropped.

GREEKS TELL EDEN THEY'LL FIGHT ON

ATHENS, March 6 (AP)—Greek leaders and the press reaffirmed today, in farewell messages to British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, the nation's determination to fight on against any and all comers.

With German forces massing on the Bulgarian frontier facing Greece, Eden matched the Greek declarations with a promise that Britain would stand by her, although "the future may be arduous."

"Indomitable and proud," asserted the newspaper Asyrmatos, "we shall march to victory. The heroic example we set on Oct. 28, 1940 (when the Italians invaded Greece) will guide us in any decision it may be necessary to take in the future in case our independence or integrity is threatened."

This attitude was reflected in other sections of the press which, with one voice, declared Greece's stand was "heartening to all free people" and "undoubtedly will be followed by other peoples in the Balkan peninsula."

Eden told Greece Britain would fight at her side "until final victory is won."

Italian Troops In Africa Strike Back at British

ROME, March 6 (AP)—Italian troops counter-attacked British forces in the Cheren sector in Eritrea yesterday and captured a number of prisoners, the Fascist high command reported today.

An attempt was made by the British to "infiltrate" the Italian lines by night, a communique said.

British warplanes were said to have struck back by raiding several localities in Eritrea, but the daily war bulletin declared they caused little damage and no casualties.

ITALIAN SHIP SUNK

ATHENS, March 6 (AP)—The sinking of an Italian supply ship off the Yugoslav coast by the Greek submarine Nereus on the night of Feb. 23 was announced today by the ministry of marine.

HARD of HEARING
This picture tells why thousands are HARD OF HEARING, annoyed by BUZZING, RINGING, HISSING HEAD NOISES, CLOGGED UP FEELING IN EARS, DIZZINESS.
Hard, impacted wax pressing on ear canals, and preying on sensitive ear drums keeps out sound waves, makes your hearing bad.
To remove this wax obstruction that interferes with normal hearing and may cause serious infection use Otosine Ear Drops as directed. They are safe and contain a special ingredient recommended for this purpose by United States Public Health Service.
Mrs. Anna Covey, San Angelo, Texas, writes, "Otosine is the last medicine ever found for my hearing."
You'll be amazed how clearly and distinctly you HEAR after wax obstruction is removed.

Trans-Lux Bill Held Over Again

Coasting on the thinnest of ice, the Danielle Darrieux - starring French farce, "Virgin Bride," is delighting Trans-Lux audiences no end and, as was to be expected, is holding over a third week.

The orchidaceous Darrieux plays with delicious humor the title role of the bride who marries a rich, old playboy out of spite and promptly becomes the object of her good-looking, young step-sons affections. The latter is played by the handsome Pierre Brasseur.

Risque without being raw, "Virgin Bride" is one of those entertaining and, aided by the English titles, doesn't even require your high-school French to be hilariously understandable.

The co-feature, "School For Husbands," starring that excellent British actor, Rex Harrison, last seen here in "Night Train," is another more than satisfactory comedy. Harrison's co-star is the glamorous June Clyde.

Fredric March Gets Role in Stage Play

Frederic March and his wife, Florence Eldridge, will appear in the leading roles in Sophie Treadwell's new play, Theater Guild production which goes into rehearsal next week.

Present plans call for a six weeks' engagement in Theater Guild subscription cities out of town with the New York premiere scheduled for early next season. The production will be under the supervision of Theresa Helburn and Lawrence Langner.

Louise Stewart Heads Globe Bill Which Starts Tomorrow

Glamour galore is what the new Globe bill promises, if the deliriously enthusastic press agent is to be trusted.

Starting tomorrow, the new travelling burlesque show will boast a host of lovelies, notably Louise Stewart, "The Toast of Hollywood;" Boo (short for beautiful) La Von, the captivating June Marshall and the lelectable Diane Shaw.

There are other cutie cuticles in the company of 70 too numerous to mention, not the least of whom are the 30 dancing Bernardolls.

Two slapstick artists know from ocast to coast, Fulley and Gump, will start the ball a'rolling with the indispensable assistance of such dependable comics as Lew Fine, Murray Leonard, Ned Welsh, Harry Ryan and Irving Benson.

Vaudeville headliners will include Marshall and Welsh, society dancers; Marion Young, vocal charmer, and the Finnesse Four, in an acrobatic dancing fantasy.

The film attractions will be "Nurse Edith Cavell," starring the fine British screen and stage star, Anna Neagle, with George Sanders, and "Human Cargo," with Brian Donlevy and Clair Trevor.

"HOLLYWOOD TODAY," by Louella O. Parsons, noted Filmland authority, appears regularly in the Boston Evening American.

SOUTH STATION BILL

South Station Theater's current film feature is "Americans All, March of Time's pictorial study of America's racial composition.

Other highlights are the Federal Housing Project's one-reeler; Pete Smith's "Wedding Bills"; "Women in Sports" shorts, two color cartoons, latest newsreels and incidental shorts.

Ruth and Paul Draper Will Repeat Program

The Drapers, Ruth and Paul, will repeat their last night's program of sketches and dances, tonight at the Plymouth. Miss Draper will give "Opening a Bazaar" and "In County Kerry" and her nephew, Paul, will present a series of dances.

For her Friday and Saturday night offerings, Miss Draper will present "Doctors" and "Three Generations in a Court of Domestic Relations."

Reduces, Gets It Right Back!

By PEGGY DOYLE

Speaking of reducing, the lank, blue-eyed Paul Draper, whose ballet-tapping is the most exciting thing that has happened to the Hub's rialto this year, drops from four to five pounds nightly at the Plymouth.

But he puts it all back again, quaffing quantities of orange juice during and milk and beer after the show.

Presently appearing with his distinguished aunt, Ruth Draper, the 28-year-old dancer, who is acknowledged one of the stage's great dancers, has ambitions to have his own ballet company one day.

"I don't know how or when but, eventually, I intend to have my own company," he confessed, yesterday, in an interview at the Ritz-Carlton. "When that happens, I want to use the combination of tap and ballet in order to express those qualities by which we survive on earth."

He is frank to say that ballet-dancing, with its faithful adherence to such old-world offerings as "Swan Lake" and "Les Sylphides," rates the caricaturing it has been receiving at the hands of Hollywood and Broadway. It's time, he believes, that it divorced itself from this hackneyed if beautiful style and got closer to reality.

This current teaming of the Draper talents, which won enthusiastic endorsement from New York audiences prior to the local engagement, had been Miss Draper's fondest hope for some time.

Son of the great lieder singer, the late Paul Draper, and the well-known writer, Muriel Sanders Draper, young Draper, who's 29, and going to stay that for another five years, has been dancing since 1930, was featured in "Thumbs Up" five years later, appeared at our Metropolitan Theater some five years ago and was most recently seen here in the late lamented Dowling show, "The Little Dog Laughed," of last season.

Before all this, he spent a year at the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute trying to become the engineer his family wanted him to be.

"They are now quite reconciled to my dancing profession," he said.

Draper will keep an engagement at Manhattan's Versailles before departing for South America and a professional date with Rio De Janeiro's smart Copacabana.

Confidentially, he much prefers the stage to night club engagements.

New Play Opens Here March 17

"Your Loving Son," a new comedy by Abby Merchant, will be given its premiere at the Plymouth Theater on Monday evening, March 17. Sponsored by J. Richard Kennedy, in association with Neal Bloomingdale and Joseph F. Loewi, the new play has been staged by Arthur Sircom. Raymond Sovey has provided the setting.

The play deals with the troubles of an adolescent boy and a pair of giddy parents. On the theory that what one parent doesn't know about the other causes no disturbance, he has managed to win their confidence and keep their secret, but when their flighty behavior threatens the peace of his little sweetheart, Junior puts his foot down and throws a scare into the and mother that there is something to domesticity after all.

SIGNS OF SPRING

When a Pretty Miss Gets Out Her Camera

On the Common—Spring is in the air . . . but definitely . . . thinks Madeline Matson of Everett . . . so she takes her camera and herself to Boston Common to get a few "shots." It won't be long now . . . 'til March 21.

Boston Evening Globe Photo

Flood Did It—Drenched under rain storms for the past month, Californi suffers tremendous damage all over the "sunny" state from oods . . . and at Los Angeles, swirling waters undermine a concrete pier, causing the collase of a railroad bridge (above).

California Dew—'Tisn't raining rain at all in California; it's drippingdew . . . dew that turns streets into rivers and forces merchants to build sandbag dykes to keep the water out of the merchandise. And, above, Sally McGowan hos Mrs. Anne Schlick to board a bicycle at Reseda while Arthur Schlick looks on.

AUDITIONING FOR AMBASSADORSHIPS

Young Musicians Aspire for Spot in All-American Youth Orchestra

Kanko Kahila and Erwin Price Play Trombones

Competing—Vying for a place in Leopold Stokowski's All-America Youth Orchestra, young musicians flock to the Hatch Memorial Shell to display their talents for Arthur Fiedler, Pops conductor. Those chosen will be among the 100 musical ambassadors who will tour Canada, Mexico and this country. Here, Harry Herforth of Boston blows his horn.

Audition—Conductor Arthur Fiedler stands by as Adelaide Hubbard of Brookline plays the 'cello . . . as she auditions at the Hatch Memorial Shell.

EVERYBODY knows what happens when a city or town builds a one-lane bridge on a six-lane highway.

Automobiles pile up at the approaches to the bridge, and there is dangerous and expensive traffic congestion.

Soon progress becomes impossible. Cars on the bridge cannot get off. Cars off the bridge cannot get on.

Then motorists rage, make uncomplimentary remarks about police efficiency, and vent their spleen in raucous horn-blowing.

BOSTON COMMON AFTER RECENT SNOWSTORM
Should Part of This Land Be Used for Auto Parking?

This is the situation in Boston.

The State, expending millions of dollars, has built wide roads —super-roads, in fact—to all the city's boundaries, AND STOPPED THEM THERE.

As in the case of the one-lane bridge on the six-lane highway, one car blocks another car, traffic slows down and frequently ceases altogether.

Clearly something must be done.

Boston's present and future welfare demands action.

So does the safety of the thousands of people in other cities of the Commonwealth who visit or pass through this city.

And so also does national defense which is causing hundreds of additional passenger cars and trucks to use Boston streets.

But WHAT should be done?

That is the big question.

That is the problem the people of Boston and Massachusetts must face and solve.

WE THEREFORE ASK every reader of the Evening American and Daily Record to write us a brief letter and to say what HE thinks ought to be done.

Should a PART of Boston Common be taken over, landscaped attractively and converted into a free automobile parking space?

Should a huge garage be built in the manner of a gigantic subway under the Common and Public Garden?

Should the State erect a wide overhead highway to carry traffic across downtown Boston?

Should buildings that have been seized by the city be torn down and the land on which these buildings stand used for five-cents-an-hour automobile parking?

Should five-story, wall-less garages be constructed on accessible sites in the business area for the convenience of businessmen and shoppers?

Should the current police campaign against overtime parking be continued or should Police Commissioner Timilty be required to abandon it?

IT IS NOT NECESSARY to write long and complicated letters.

A simple note expressing one's views or a postcard written with a lead-pencil will do.

If Boston Common would be more valuable as a parking space than as a recreational spot, SAY SO.

If through traffic should move on an elevated highway as it does in many other large cities, SAY SO.

If motorists who come to Boston to patronize our stores, restaurants, theaters and hotels should be able to park their cars for a few cents an hour or for nothing, SAY SO.

Write what you think ought to be done and send it to the editor of the Boston American or Daily Record.

Your suggestion may be the RIGHT SUGGESTION.

Motor vehicles in Boston's central business district have increased from 170,000 cars and trucks daily in 1927 to 285,000 in 1938, and the number is still growing. Today, more than 300,000 vehicles a day appear on Boston's downtown streets, and two-thirds of the 300,000 are machines from outside the city.

The traffic problem is consequently the concern of every Massachusetts resident, the person who lives in a city fifty miles away almost as much as the one whose home is in Boston.

On The Side

WHAT is the most dangerous sport? Is it ice-boating, steeplechase racing, automobile racing or football? I think it is football. That may be because I played in games in which two fellows were killed. One of these was the man playing next to me in the line. Mark Twain thought Mississippi steamboat piloting was the most dangerous pastime and said of it: "This is a sport which makes the body's very liver curl with enjoyment" . . . What do you want to be, young fellow? Here's hoping you will not be talked out of trying something at which you might prove a great success. Many young people are. On the other hand, many keep trying something for which they are not equipped and have no chance of success. A great problem of youth is to know when to take advice and when to leave it alone. At Warsaw Conservatory of Music, Ignace Paderewski was told by the professors he would never amount to much as piano player; that he should take up the study of the trumpet.

DOUBLE TALK: Note a reference to something called "Hollywood Double Talk." This, it is alleged, consists of a rhymed greeting such as "Hello, Nancy, looking fancy"; "Hi, Nan, where's your man?" "Hello, Pat, nifty hat," etc., etc. . . . I haven't heard this in Hollywood, but, perhaps, I don't go to the right places. However, I guess I will think up a few of these double talk greetings for future use. Offhand I can only think of one for Bing Crosby: "Hi, Bing, Old Thing." I have one for Garbo, but it's only good for a rainy day: "Hello, Greta, it's getting wetter."

ASIDES: Was the pompadour hat, which seems to be giving our feminine friends so much joy and satisfaction, originated by the late Madame de Pompadour? If so she seems to have had much better ideas on hats than the Empress Eugenie . . . The more weight an automobile has to carry the more it costs the owner for gasoline. So say the experts. Keep that in mind, sir. You could tell your wife to go on a weight reduction diet so you could save money on gasoline. And don't take "no" for an answer. Remind her she promised to obey you . . . Mussolini ordered mustard gas used in the warfare in Abyssinia in 1935. The blistering effect of this type of gas is horrible. Both Mussolini and his boss, Hitler, hesitate to use gas now because they fear the British may retaliate. It is said the latter are in possession of a number of very powerful chemical warfare weapons, some of them United States inventions.

-:- MY DAY

WASHINGTON, Wednesday — I had a most interesting tea party yesterday afternoon with the group of South American students who have been visiting this country, and for whom Dr. Stephen Duggan made all the arrangements.

The major part of their time has been spent at the University of North Carolina, at Chapel Hill, and they seem to have derived a great deal of interest from their visit to this country.

Most of these young people spoke English and I felt ashamed all over again of my lack of ability to speak Spanish. In some cases, it was evidently an effort for these young people and those accompanying them, to express themselves.

Still, they valiantly tackled our difficult language and said what they wanted to say.

I had arranged for tea and afterwards for a short meeting, at which we had an exhibition of work done by WPA and NYA agencies.

The students showed great interest in the various things that were made on the art and production projects and seemed to appreciate the WPA quartet which played for us.

LAST EVENING, a group of people, some of them from government departments, some of them from New York City, and a few from even further away, gathered here at dinner to discuss population trends in this country.

So many interesting facts were brought out which had a bearing on our population, that it was finally decided to ask some of the representatives of government departments to get together and define the limits of the general problem we are facing in this country.

Then people specially gifted in the art of putting this material in brief but dramatic form, will find some way to make us all conscious of the facts which should be in our possession

I WENT OUT early this morning and had my hair done, for one must at least leave on a journey prepared not to have to visit a beauty parlor for some time. Then I held a press conference at which I had hoped to have Dr. Harriet Elliott.

There are a number of questions which the newspaper women wanted to ask her, but she has lost her voice, so we had to postpone her appearance until my return.

I also saw a gentleman this morning who is convinced that he knows how private capital can undertake to finance the home building on a large scale.

Knowing absolutely nothing about financing or building, I hope I shall be able to direct him to some one better able to judge the values of his suggestions than I am.

I lunched with our old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Miller.

Ranee of Sarawak

Broadway Medley

RICH RANEE NOW SEEKS JOB

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—The richest jobseeker in America now is the Ranee of Sarawak. Her fortune is a fabulous one, but it's all in Borneo and England, beyond reach now. Her husband, the White Rajah, doesn't want her to join him in London, lest they both be killed, and Sarawak left without a ruler. And so now she's looking for a job in New York . . . Slowly, but surely, the President's Cabinet—after its changes—will take over the duties of the OPM . . . The Alex King-Clare Boothe play, "The Yohimbe Tree," will be sold to the movies. Broadway production has been abandoned, because of casting difficulties . . . Kay Chaqueneau, wife of the socialite agent, was screen-tested by Lewis Milestone for a role in the new Ronald Colman picture, and won the assignment . . . In the Court of General Sessions, last week, before Judge James G. Wallace, a witness testified that he could not have participated in the crime charged, "because I was in the can at that time" . . . "You mean," interrupted the erudite Judge Wallace, "that, during the aforementioned period you were languishing in durance vile—incarcerated in a detention place for transgressors. Is that what you mean?' . . . "No, Judge," replied the witness. "That's what YOU mean. What I mean is that I was in the can"

AL JOLSON, who is being sued by his co-producer for having closed the show in New York, will reopen it in New Haven, on Aug. 12. His tour is set—from there to Philadelphia, then Boston . . . The "Torch Club" on W. 52nd will change its name to "The Bowery" today, and will install an old New York revue . . . Al "Bummy" Davis, the welterweight who enlisted in the Army, has clashed with the M. P.'s . . . The Havana newspapers made a literal translation of Jimmy Walker's name, during his visit to Cuba. They referred to him as Jaime Pedestriano . . . Irene Dunne, who will be co-starred with Robert Montgomery in "Unfinished Business," the new La Cava film, also will write the incidental music for that movie.

HAROLD ICKES who, among his vehement campaign attacks against Wendell Willkie, had described the Republican nominee as "that barefoot boy from Wall Street," was asked: "Well, what do you think of Willkie now? Do you still think he's the barefoot boy from Wall Street?" . . . Ickes hesitated—mindful of Willkie's courage in going to London and breaking his party-line to support the lend-lease bill—replied: "Well, in this weather, anyone has a right to wear shoes" . . . The subway-drilling sound-effects failed to go off on cue, during the second act curtain of "My Sister Eileen." Shirley Boothe thawed the frozen cast by quickly shouting: "Boom! Earthquake!" . . . Gluckstein's, the midtown restaurant which replaced the ill-fated one opened by Jimmy Braddock, is thriving. Braddock still is popular, but his venture failed despite the patronage of his many friends who were anxious for him to succeed. The present proprietor now explains it: "I guess good, hot pastrami has more drawing power than a heavyweight champ" . . . Major W. S. Van Dyke, the director, spent all the leaves of absence to which he was entitled for the entire year of 1941, to doctor the MGM film, "Rage in Heaven."

FERENC MOLNAR, who spends all his time at the Hotel Plaza, confesses that he first learned to like this way of life while he lived in Budapest. He resided in an apartment house there. And one day he tired of the smell of cooking. He thought how ideal it would be if all the other tenants in that house would install a joint kitchen downstairs, and some tables at which they could eat their food—instead of cooking and eating in their apartments. "It will save kitchen space for all of us," he told the others in that house. "We can eat when we want to—downstairs—and bring our friends in. It will be wonderful" . . . He gave up the idea when he discovered that such a thing had been in operation for a long time—and was called "A Hotel."

BEN COHEN, who flew to Lisbon last week, had only Tommy Corcoran at the airport, to see him off. That was because he had told his friends "I'm sailing to Lisbon," and they thought he had booked passage on a ship.

BILL CUNNINGHAM, the sports scribe, will move his office from Newspaper Row to a point near Tremont and Boylston sts, on March 17 (Evacuation Day) . . . The bill boards will be telling about it soon after you read this . . . and his new newspaper will front page him for at least 30 days . . . Bill's wages have been lifted more than 33 1-3 per cent, and the contract is a long-term one.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: The Mayfair's new show chiefly was featured by a marvellous young dancer, by name Jo Andrews . . . (Jo without the "e" denotes that the subject is of the female persuasion) . . . She is a Brookline High girl, whose mother lives near Coolidge Corner.

MISS ANDREWS got to The Mayfair by a circuitous route which found her buried as a "Roxette," in the chorus of the Roxy Theater, thence to Hollywood and a fillum "Melody and Moonlight," and then to Boston and The Mayfair, which it was her girlhood ambition sometime to play.

THE HASTY PUDDING CLUB of Harvard will get belated Rialto recognition tonight when Dance Director Bill Holbrook brings his charges to the Cocoanut Grove to act as principals in a "Guest Night" . . . It will probably be the first case on record where Harvard lads will get free drinks in Boston after dark. (Generally, the inclination is to charge them double).

KAY TYLER OF THE GROVE'S chorus had her innings last night when the band played "Happy Birthday Ka-a-ay Ty-y-yler! Happy Birthday to etc." . . . One of the terrors of the impending settlement of the ASCAP feud with the broadcasters is that "Happy Birthday" is an ASCAP tune and henceforth will be among the properties restored to the airwaves . . . In a nightclub, perhaps, it's all right—the first four or five times a night you hear it . . . Miss Tyler really had a birthday last night, and there was some spirit in the way the orchestra rendered (or rent) the tune . . . Anyhow, Kay's pretty fellows of the chorus line entered into the spirit of the occasion and all was very happy.

CORRESPONDENTS MAY NOW desist from forwarding names and dimensions of stray schooners, two-masted and three—, which they have on hand . . . Stirling Hayden has found the boat of his heart's desire . . . A yacht broker named John Levitt, of New York, happened to read a piece in this column which tried to acquaint prospective sellers of Stirling's wish to get himself a yacht.

THE BLONDE VIKING of Paramount Fillums hopped over to City Island, New York, yesterday, and plunked down a first payment on a Levitt-brokered schooner, the property of Chandler Hovey . . . Stirling will have it made ready for the Carribean, and while the copper paint of high proof against tropical marine growth is being applied, our hero will hop to Hollywood for a huddle on his new contract. (Jack Dixon, the ace cameraman of this newspaper, will accompany him).

THAT GIRL YOU MAY HAVE SEEN Stirling with Tuesday night (at the Somerset's Cotillion) was Ann

ANN PHILLIPS STIRLING HAYDEN

She's Not His Big Heart Throb

Phillips . . . Her dad is Ambassador to Italy William Phillips, but the romance is naught but a press-agent's dream . . . Stirling's bona-fide heart-throb resides in Wellesley, and those stories about a girl he left behind in Honolulu are bunkum.

ADAM WALSH, OF THE NOTRE DAME school of coaches, has a better than long-shot choice to succeed Coach Frank Leahy at Boston College . . . Patti Pickens, lovely sister of lovely Jane Pickens of "Boys and Girls Together" will be guest of honor at the I. J. Fox Spring Fashion Revue at high noon tomorrow (at the Washington st. store.)

MAE WEST SIGNS FILM CONTRACT

By Louella O. Parsons

Mae West

HOLLYWOOD, March 6—Mae West has herself a movie job! Yes indeed! She signed a contract with William Shapiro, who brought Bobby Breen to the Coast. Shapiro, at one time associated with Sol Lesser, obtained capital to finance the West movie. And now here's to me, the part that should make even the Sphinx smile—Shapiro has an option on John Barrymore's services and is trying to get him to play opposite La West.

Bernard Schubert, who has authored the story, pictures Mae as an older glamour girl who is satiated with romance and tired of the world until she meets her ideal man—John Barrymore, no less—a retired hero. Then love blooms all over again for both. Ah me! Ah me! And here's something for the books—Mae, of all things, is being backed by New England capital.

MADELEINE CARROLL

• • •

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: The whisper is that Madeleine Carroll will quietly wed her French Captain Richard De La Roziere in Miami, where she joins him; Ben Bernie's son, Jason, who works in the editorial department at Universal, has been called by Uncle Sam and leaves in a few weeks.

Bill Cagney, Jimmie's brother, finally parted with his appendix at the Queen of the Angels Hospital; Rudy Vallee took a look at the sun this morning and said, "Hmmm. Unusual California weather." Quentin Reynolds calls Eddie Moran "a man of a few thousand words."

Rex St. Cyr departed from Hollywood today, bag and baggage. The Cobina Wrights, junior and senior, were at the station to say au revoir; denials notwithstanding, it's my private opinion that Lupe Velez and Big Boy Williams are no longer even remotely interested in matrimony.

Bill Holden gifted Brenda Marshall with a new car, which he originally bought for himself; Gene Markey is testing Phillip Reed, who has been on the English and Broadway stage for nearly six years.

Gloria Swanson arrives here March 20 to talk a movie deal; William F. McDowell, who has been a studio doorman at Paramount for fifteen years, is soon to make his debut as an actor. Well, he has watched them come and go.

• • •

PAT DANE, the gal about town, who has been up for contracts at both M-G-M and Warners, finally lands at Metro and the studio has changed her name to Sandra Sherwood. One of the stipulations in the new deal is that Pat (pardon me, Sandra) curtail some of her night-club stepping with a different beau every night.

You really cannot blame these youngsters like Pat—and Lana Turner for wanting to have a good time. They're pretty and young and good dancers and it's fun being popular. But the studios are smart in realizing that their baby glamour girls must be serious about their careers and get to bed early. Louis B. Mayer believes Pat may be a brunette Jean Harlow, so it's up to her to work hard.

• • •

I CAN REMEMBER—and it wasn't very long ago—when no star would accept a role in which he wasn't a glorified hero. Even today I doubt if many top actors would play a paranoiac as Robert Montgomery has in "Rage in Heaven"—an unpleasant young man with murderous intentions and a suicidal complex.

The part is entirely unsympathetic yet Bob gives a fine performance and I was greatly interested, unpleasant though the story is, in its development.

And while we're talking of "Rage in Heaven," George Sanders, who has played so many heavies, is delightful as the normal young man whose brilliancy and pose create an unreasoning jealousy in the paranoiac's mind While "Rage in Heaven" isn't the pleasantest picture in the world it is one of the most exciting.

• • •

THE THREE HARD RIDIN', hard actin' lads at Universal—Dick Foran, Leo Carrillo and Andy Devine, are down for seven movies with Latin-American backgrounds. Universal plans to give these movies a Mexican and Argentine flavor with a view of courting the patronage of our sister country.

The first is "Beyond the Pampas" and the second, "In Old Monterey." A good time to film movies that appeal to our sister countries with Uncle Sam so eager to show his friendship for Mexico and South America.

Listen, World!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

THERE are ructions in the Allen family. Hitherto Mother Allen has ruled the roost. She has ruled it lovingly but firmly, with the profound conviction that Mother Knows Best. And now the three Allen youngsters, ranging in age from 18 to 23, and all working, are disputing that theory.

They say mother's a dear, but she DOESN'T know best. They say that her ideas are old-fashioned . . . that they won't work in this modern world; that she "doesn't understand what it's all about."

NATURALLY Mrs. Allen is distracted and indignant. What nonsense to say she doesn't understand! Wasn't she young once herself? Of course she understands! She accepted her mother's guidance . . . why won't they? What will they amount to if they won't listen to their own mother?

They probably will amount to much more than if they did listen to Mother.

That's a hard answer to give a distressed mother, but it's a true one. The average mother of a modern working girl or boy knows far less about the world in which she lives than the child.

Grandmother might have known what was best for mother, for life had changed but little since her own girlhood. But the world has moved faster with in the last 25 years than within the last 250 years. This present world is no more like the world of mothers' youth than it is like Mars.

Mother wants her girls to "be like she was." She wants them to be as innocent, docile, retiring and sentimental as her mother taught her to be. But the modern girl who tried to enter life with that sort of technique would be doomed to tragedy. Her associates would pity her, her boss would fire her, her children would laugh at her and she'd bore her husband to tears.

GIRLS, in mother's youth, prepared for marriage. Girls today prepare for LIFE. It's an entirely different matter. The 20th century girl knows her world and must know how to handle herself in that world. She must be a CITIZEN as well as a female.

AS a consequence, nine times out of ten a mother can learn more from her working child than it can learn from her.

The child is no cat. The mother isn't. She hasn't kept herself so.

HER DUTIES as assistant head usher at the Morning Musicales completed for the season, Elizabeth Jenney of Brookline is packing her winter togs in mothballs and getting out all her summery outfits in preparation for a long sojourn in the South . . .

She and her mother, Mrs. Charles S. Jenney of Warren st., are leaving Sunday for Sea Island, Georgia, where they plan to soak up lots of sunlight on the sandy beaches and golf course . . .

At the last of the season's Musicales yesterday, Elizabeth was being wished bon voyage by a large group of post deb friends, particularly Sally Reed, head usher, and one of Elizabeth's closest friends . . . Together they have done a grand executive job this winter and ironed out many problems with with the ease and swiftness of seasoned executives

The final concert, starring John Charles Thomas, rang down the curtain on the Musicales' thirteenth season . . . Mrs. John W. Myers of Fox Hill Farm. Westwood, who organized and has been the guiding spirit of the Musicales since their beginning, was relaxing on the sands at Palm Beach during yesterday's concert, but sent her best wishes to the committee via telegraph . . .

* * *

DEBUTANTE Julie Falvey, ordinarily very vivacious and bubbling over with fun, tried a more serious pose yesterday as she modelled an Easter Parade outfit in the Farm and Garden fashion show at the Somerset yesterday. The beige wool dress, tucked at the shoulders, is accented with a dashing wine hat and gloves to match.

Faithful Workers on Hand

All the other faithful workers were on hand to welcome a huge throng of music lovers . . . Mrs. H. Parker Whittington was resplendent with a large gardenia corsage on her beaded black dress and Mrs. John A. Greene was bedecked with orchids . . . Her modish gray wool dress was topped by a jaunty little antelope hat . . .

Mrs. William Prescott Rogers of Fall River, was one of the most excited of all the concert-goers . . . she had just become a grandmother . . . A baby girl, Rosalind Rogers Lawrence, was born yesterday morning at Richardson House to her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Lawrence of Marlborough st. . . . One of the baby's first visitors will be her proud great grandmother, Mrs. Sidney Harwood who was receiving congratulations at a small luncheon party after the concert . . . Mrs. Rogers, who has just returned from a round trip by air to the West Coast and Memphis, wore a modish blue wool dress and draped turban with a becoming little mink cape . . .

* * *

Many Gay Luncheon Parties

Mrs. Francis Hastings and Mrs. Irving Hall attended the concert together and then went on to a luncheon party . . . Mrs. Adolf Leeds, just returned from a sojourn in Florida, shared a table for two in the Terrace Room for luncheon, and Mrs. Ella Cummings, dressed in a slim gray wool dress and burgundy velvet hat, lunched in a foursome at a nearby table . . .

Still others in the fashionable morning audience were Mrs. Paul Clark with a jaunty pink quill brightening her black hat . . . Mrs. E. Fred Cullen carried a huge silver fox muff and wore a becoming shirred scarlet velvet turban with her slim black outfit, Mrs. Charles Hovey in navy with a tiny pancake hat of gay plaid wool, Mrs. Samuel Newman whose black costume was topped with a little flower turban of dusty pink chrysanthemums, Mrs. Donald Falvey in two tone blue wool with beaver pockets, Mrs. Frederic W. Mattheis, Mrs. Albert Kales, Mrs. Arthur Allen who wore a pale gray wool dress and hat, Mrs. Winthrop C. Adams, Mrs. John Palfrey, Miss Constance Learned and many others.

Howard Slayman Concert March 9

Mrs. Renouf Russell, Mrs. Wyman Whittemore, Mrs. George Foote and Mrs. Grafton Perkins, are among the many Boston music lovers looking forward to Howard Slayman's concert debut at Jordan Hall next Sunday afternoon, March 9th.

Mr. Slayman, youthful Boston pianist, is the former husband of Mrs. Margaret Barney Slayman Hallowell of Milton.

Dance Recital Set for Friday

Mrs. Alexander Samoiloff of Winchester heads the general committee for a benefit dance recital to be held in the Winchester High School auditorium Friday evening, March 7.

The affair is being sponsored by the Winchester Junior High School Associates Philanthropies for the benefit of scholarship and philanthropy funds. Ruth St. Denis will be the featured performer.

In addition to the dance program will be the singing of a choir of 40 Greek-American boys and girls of Greater Boston under the direction of Basil Prangoulis, organizer and conductor of the group. One of Miss St. Denis' dances will be an improvisation of one of the choir's songs.

Mrs. Samoiloff, daughter of H. Dudley Murphy, Boston artist, is being assisted in plans for the affair by the following committee chairmen: Mrs. Harold Bostwick and Mrs. James Allen, tickets; Mrs. Harrie Nutter, program; Mrs. Clarence Whorf, music; Mrs. John Rutherford, secretary; Mrs. Frank O'Connor, posters; Mr. Ralph Hatch, treasurer, and Mr. James Ware, chairman of ushers.

Helping to spread news of the affair are Mrs. Harold Blanchard, head of the educational committee; Mrs. John Chipman, Mrs. Fulton Brown and Mrs. Charles Underwood, who is also chairman of the flower girls.

Hostesses entertaining at dinner parties before the concert include Mrs. Harold Blanchard, Mrs. J. Stanley Barnes and Mrs. Elizabeth Downs Wadsworth.

Apple Tapioca For Dessert

By MARTHA LEE

OLD FAVORITES in new fashions are sure to be popular, whether they're friends or foods. Apple tapioca, blush pink, delicately spicy and streamlined in shape, is a dessert bound to bring plaudits to the cook. Making it is a simple task if you use quick-cooking tapioca, which is easy to handle and sure of results.

The more usual kind of apple tapioca, of sliced apples, can be given a piquant flavor by using brown sugar for sweetening.

AN OLD FRIEND in a new dress is this Apple Tapioca —blush pink and beautiful— a sure appetite teaser, and easy enough for every day meals or a party dessert.

BLUSHING APPLE TAPIOCA

½ cup sugar
1½ cups boiling water
1 lemon, thinly sliced
2 tbsp. red cinnamon drops
4 large apples, cored and pared
2 tbsp. quick-cooking tapioca
1 tbsp. lemon juice

Combine sugar, water, lemon, and cinnamon drops; cook until cinnamon drops are dissolved, stirring constantly. Add apples and cook until tender, being careful that syrup does not boil away. Remove apples; strain, measure syrup, and add enough water to make 1 cup. Combine quick-cooking tapioca and liquid in saucepan and mix well. Bring mixture quickly to a full boil over direct heat, stirring constantly. Remove from fire. (Mixture will be thin. Do not overcook.) Add lemon juice. Cool, stirring occasionally—mixture thickens as it cools. Chill. Fill chilled apples to overflowing with tapioca mixture. Serve with whipped cream. Makes 4 servings.

BAKED APPLE TAPIOCA

2 cups water
2 tbsp. lemon juice
3 tart apples, pared and sliced
⅓ cup quick-cooking tapioca
1 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. mace
3 tbsp. melted butter

Combine water and lemon juice and pour over apples in greased, shallow baking dish. Cover and bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 15 minutes, or until apples are partially cooked. Mix together quick-cooking tapioca, sugar, salt, and mace. Sprinkle over apples, mixing thoroughly. Add butter. Continue baking 10 minutes. Then stir well and bake 5 minutes longer. Serve warm or cold with cream. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Here is another apple-tapioca suggestion:

APPLE TAPIOCA BUTTERSCOTCH

3 apples, pared and sliced
3 cups water
2 tbsp. lemon juice
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. cinnamon
⅓ cup quick-cooking tapioca
3 tbsp. melted butter

Arrange apples in greased shallow baking dish; combine water and lemon juice, pour over apples and bake, covered, in moderately hot over (375 deg. F.) for 15 minutes, or until apples are almost tender. Mix ¾ cup sugar, salt, cinnamon, tapioca and butter, sprinkle over apples and mix thoroughly; continue baking 10 minutes. Stir well, sprinkle with remaining sugar and bake five minutes long. Serve hot or cold with cream, plain or sweetened whipped cream or lemon sauce. Makes 6 servings.

LEMON SAUCE

½ cup sugar
1 tbsp. cornstarch
¼ tsp. salt
1 cup boiling water
1 tsp. grated lemon rind
3 tbsp. lemon juice
2 tbsp. butter

Mix together sugar, cornstarch and salt; gradually stir in hot water, bring to a boil and cook 15 minutes, stirring until smooth, thickened and clear; stir in lemon rind and juice and butter. Makes 1¼ cups sauce, or 6 servings.

You Can Be Beautiful

A New Chiffon Complexion

By ARLINE GOULD

IT MAY BE little comfort to the girl with an extremely oily skin to know that her type ages less readily than any other . . . the point to her is in the here and now . . . no matter what she does . . . her make-up goes unglamorously muddy from its own oils, under the sun or the moon . . . hot weather or cold.

She's learned the tricks of using astringents . . . and they help quite a bit . . . but the treacherous moments are those when she can't dash off for a new make-up . . . When her face is the cynosure of interrogating eyes.

The solution would be to keep the effect of an astringent all during the hours when make-up is worn . . . and that would seem to be a trick in the realm of magic. It isn't.

There is a "hyperactive freshener" which may seem like magic . . . certainly it acts it . . . because this ivory-tinted liquid is a make-up base and partial make-up (whole make-up, if you like to use very little) which actually makes the over-active oil glands behave for hours longer than you'd ordinarily have any right to expect!

This dew-cool liquid is gently but powerfully astringent . . . in it is suspended a fine, gossamer powder . . . and you'll be breathless and bursting with pride and joy when you see how it 'chiffons' your complexion . . . so minor blemishes disappear as though they were erased . . . and your skin has an exquisite finish that is like silk . . . lasting for hours.

You'll not be able to resist peeking at your compact mirror . . . just to see if it could possibly be true . . . that there is no sign of oil coursing in grey channels through what was once a petal-like make-up! It'll be true!

If you'd like complete information on this freshener for an oily skin, which is also a lovely base for a "permanently" matte-textured make-up . . . phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, weekdays except Saturday, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Nothing But the Truth

There Goes The Bride

By Roberta Yates

EVA THOMAS and Clarissa James, content with the world, were strolling home from school, when the jalopy clanked riotously past them. The vehicle flaunted its age in flamboyant crimson and blue and orange, as a bedizened hag vaunts her wrinkles.

"Hey, Pudge!" Eva screamed "Give us a lift, Pudge!"

It was possible that Pudge did not hear her above the barrage of loose bearings. The jalopy drew to the curb a block ahead of them. There followed a revealing pantomime. Pudge beckoned invitingly to a girl walking alone. She shook her head and marched on haughtily.

"Well, of all the—— Pudge!" Eva yelled again.

He glanced back.

"It's undignified." Clarissa said fiercely. "If he prefers her, I wouldn't ride in his old car if he begged me."

Pudge was not waiting to be begged. The jalopy snorted on. Eve regarded the rear on which was painted an invitation to "Kick Me!"

"I'l sute like to," she said.

They looked sombrely at the girl ahead of them, and then at each other. What had she that they didn't have? They were clad in the latest Hoosier mode for the teen-age miss. That is, their faces peered like pink moons from flowered peasant handkerchiefs. Their calves, bare and wind reddened, ended in short sox, giving them the appearance of having spindled ankles, badly bandaged.

The girl ahead had not those smart accessories. She wore a somber, blue dress, almost a uniform, and her legs—hosed!—were cased in black hosiery. Her face, however, had its exotic points.

"It's gone pretty fa, when Pudge Evans rides right past us and tries to pick her up," said Eva.

"Did you see him—and Pudge, too, last night at the class party, hanging around her like sour balls?" Clarissa asked gloomily.

The Evans twins, Budge and Pudge—had been Eva's and Clarissa's exclusive property since kindergarten. Their defection to a desirable alien was a real blow.

"French girls sure have something," Eva said, as many other females have remarked.

Amelie Magnan—the girl in black stockings—had arrived in Indianapolis, a refugee, two months before, to live with her aunt, the starchy mademoiselle who taught French at Merry Hill, a girls' school frequented by Clarissa and Eva. Her coming had thrilled them at first, since they expected a Simone Simon or a Danielle Darrieux, but Amelie disillusioned them.

She stated primly that she was a young girl, well brought up. She went nowhere without the aunt as chaperon; she did not hang out with laughing groups in soda fountains, nor did she accept rides alone with boys, as she had just demonstrated to Pudge. She was, in the eyes of Eva and Clarissa—a prig, a washout and a frost. They had anticipated no rivalry from her. And yet she had something, and that dangerous.

The Cast of Characters in "There Goes the Bride."

EVA and CLARISSA, who are deeply interested in BUDGE and PUDGE, and later alarmed at the interest the boys show in AMELIE, a refugee from France.

"I've figured it," said Clarissa. 'She plays hard-to-get.'

"In Caesar or some place, it says to surround the enemy," said Eva, dreamily. "Maybe we should kind of cultivate her."

"It would be one way to see Pudge and Budge," Clarissa agreed. "They're always hanging around her."

They hurried on and cried a hypocritically cordial: "Hello!" Amelie greeted them politely, but with no enthusiasm. She had made it clear that she was no pitiable refugee, and the two could scarcely be blamed for their lack of charity. Amelie said frankly that the collapse of France had rescued her from a demon grandmother, who lingered on there, presumably to disconcert the invaders.

"If anyone can frighten Hitler, it will be my grandmere," Amelie had said smugly.

She had also made it clear that she considered the free and easy manner of American girls, undignified. She had asked pointedly if they expected to get husbands, when they dashed about hailing boys boldly, and slapping them on the back. Eva and Clarissa wondered how they'd get husbands otherwise.

At the moment Amelie's cheeks were red banners of anger.

"This brute, Pudge, have insulted me," she declared. "He ask me to ride with him, like a cocotte, an' last night, his brother, the Budge one—have tried to kiss me behind a door."

A "MENACE"

Eva and Clarissa exchanged glances. The siren lure had gone farther than they dreamed. Amelie was indeed a menace.

"What would my fiance think, if he know American men insult me?"

"Your fiance!" the girls exclaimed.

Amelie was 18, two years older than they, of marriageable age, but she had never before mentioned a fiance. That was one to tell Budge and Pudge.

"Where is he? In France?" asked Clarissa.

"No, in New Orleans."

They gasped. New Orleans was practically just down the pike. Lots of people went there for the Mardi Gras.

"Is he handsome?" Eva asked.

"Oh, very. And it is settled since I am 10 and he is 14."

The bubble of hope burst.

"When I was 10, I was going to marry the ice man's son," said Clarissa, "but I don't even know where he is now. Maybe you haven't got a fiance any more."

"We could have the reception in our drawing room," said Clarissa. "Uncle Jake will chip in for a caterer, if I promise not to tell about him tinting his hair."

"We could be bridesmaids!"

Their families were both startled and pleased to find these self-absorbed girls suddenly intent on a good deed. Though both families had hoped to avoid wedding fuss until such time as they got rid of their own daughters, they were touched by this solicitude for a French friend. Mademoiselle, Amelie's aunt, was enchanted to have aid in getting her young niece married suitably.

There were a few last-minute difficulties. Uncle Jake, an elderly bachelor, refused to be blackmailed for more than $25.

Eva and Clarissa were forced to borrow from other relatives, promising to repay from their allowances for the next six months.

"We'll be gosh-awful broke," said Eva.

"But we get Budge and Pudge back, and they'll pay for movies and sodas and things, and ride us in their car," Clarissa pointed out.

"We mean it deeply that you visit us," she insisted.

"Oh, yes," said Amelie. "It is well arranged. Our families suggest it first. He comes to France two years ago and I like him. He comes twice here to see me. We marry soon."

"What's keeping you?" Eva asked rudely.

Amelie burst into voluble explanation. They gathered that it was absolutely necessary that she have a fine wedding with a reception and many guests and wine and music, in order to impress the parents of her fiance who were well established since a long time in New Orleans. But Amelie's aunt had only a small apartment.

"We must wait for the wedding with the dignity," said Amelie.

Eva and Clarissa frowned. It would take Amelie's aunt, the French teacher, a long time indeed, to achieve a wedding with trimmings. Meanwhile Amelie would remain a nuisance. They left her at the corner, and went on, thoughtfully.

CUPID'S HELPERS

"Mother's always doing good and things," Eva said. "She ought to help with a wedding. It's a kind of war charity."

Seen thus, Amelie's wedding would be a good investment.

The bridegroom, Rene Erard, proved a pallid blonde with a pink-tipped nose. He was flanked by parents who were plump, pink versions of himself. He drifted ghost-like through the large wedding party with which Eva and Clarissa had packed the drawing room, inviting their parents' friends as well as their own set.

"He's nothing like Charles Boyer," Eva said. "Maybe Amelie will back out."

But apparently Amelie was delighted with him.

"It will be nice to be a matron and do as I like," she confided to her bridesmaids. "Now I shall be most gay."

They marvelled at this twisting of life as they know it, for all the young matrons of their acquaintance, were tied to kitchens, infants, and other burdens of matrimony. But so pleased were they at getting rid of Amelie, that they agreed she made a lovely bride.

And indeed she did, beaming joyfully at both the church ceremony and the reception that followed it. Everyone beamed joyfully, and the French contingent added a voluble cosmopolitan note. It was a gay wedding, a successful reception—save for two specters of gloom.

LONELY BACHELORS

Pudge and Budge applied themselves morbidly to the punch, drowning their woe at seeing Amelie carted off to New Orleans by a pink-nosed husband. The bridesmaids attempted to cheer them.

"After people leave, let's go somewhere for sodas," said Clarissa, to whom the refreshments had been but an aperitif.

"Okay," Pudge and Budge agreed, brightening.

Then the bride and bridegroom bore down on the group at the punch bowl. Rene Erard made a little speech, thanking them for the fine reception.

He ended up with an invitation to Clarissa and Eva, to Pudge and to Budge to visit Amelie and himself in New Orleans, for Mardi Gras. Amelie looked kindly at Pudge and Budge. Gone was her indignation at their freshness. She had the air of a young matron who would soon be a chaperon and maybe a flirtatious one, Eva thought soutly.

"We mean it deeply that you visit us," she insisted. "We show you all one very gay time."

"You mean—really? Gee, I've always wanted to go to New Orleans," said Budge.

"You come then, sure."

The happy couple drifted away. Budge and Pudge grinned at each other, oblivious to Eva and Clarissa.

"The fliver won't go as far as that," said Pudge.

"We can sell it for $25."

"Then if we save every penny for railroad fare! No sodas, no movies, no nothing!"

They shook hands on it.

"How about one soda tonight?" Eva asked.

They didn't hear her. They had rushed off to accept the invitation.

Clarissa choked on a bite of wedding cake.

"Of course she did invite us, too," Eva said.

"A fat chance we've got of going—With our allowances hocked for six months to get her married."

"It looks like a tough winter," "You can't beat a French girl," they said together.

His First Love Affair at 40

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

About six months ago I met a married woman through one of my friends, and I find myself in love with her. I'm 40 years old, and although I've met many types of girls, I've never fallen for one of them. Now I have to have the bad luck of falling in love with a married woman, and one who is in love with her husband. Of course I've no intention of pressing my suit but I love her so deeply that it's just about ruining my peace of mind.

Heaven only knows how hard I've tried to forget it; I never knew there could be such love, and that it had to happen to me at 40.

BACHELOR.

You will have to take yourself in hand and pretend this lady isn't in the picture at all. She doesn't know you're in love with her, is happy in her home and is in love with her husband. So that's that.

I'd advise you to find some attractive unmarried girl and force yourself to be attentive to her. Take her to the movies, to plays, concerts, or dancing, if you like to dance.

Go through the motions of being interest in this girl; persuade yourself that you are. We're all creatures of the imagination. Here's to you.

Courtesy Tip

If, when you are expressing your apology, it is your habit to say "Pardon me," may I urge you to throw "Pardon me" into the discard, and adopt the more gracious phrase, "I beg your pardon."

"Pardon me" isn't in good standing with mannerly people. In the first place, it's a command, and a command isn't a very gracious way of going about the idea of apologizing. In the second place, "Pardon me" presents, apparently too great a temptation for that miserable accenting of the last word, "Pardon ME."

Spurned Suitor In Gun Battle With 35 Cops

NEW YORK, March 6 (INS)—Armed with a .22-caliber rifle and barricaded in a second floor Staten Island apartment, a 26-year-old Nova Scotia shipyard worker, William Schiedel, held 35 policemen at bay in a 25-minute gun battle today and, according to police, attempted suicide when captured.

The man, who was driven out by a tear gas bomb, was prevented from turning the gun on himself when police grabbed him. Schiedel, refusing to talk, was booked for felonious assault.

Mrs. John Forbes, his sister, in whose apartment the battle occurred, told police Schiedel, furiously angry over a girl's rejection of his attentions, took the gun and began smashing up the kitchen.

BILL CORUM SAYS:

'Barber of Seaville' Won 100 G's in a Close Shave

NEW YORK, March 6—There used to be a cowboy song, one line of which went: "Tony, Tony, hop on your pony, etc." I hope that neither ASCAP or the B. M. I. will enjoin me from the use of that line. These are days when you have to be pretty careful in this columning business. Folks are sensitive and jumpy. If all you do is just call a guy a bum, he's apt to get mad at you.

NICK WALL

Just the same there were a lot of people around this country last Saturday who wished they had hopped on Tony's pony. Tony's pony was Bay View in the Santa Anita Handicap. Under a hundred thousand dollar ride by Nicky Wall, the featherweight booter from Boston, Bay View won the hundred thousand dollars and paid off in the exact figures of Tony's telephone number—one, one, eight, four, o. That's $118.40 to $2, or $58.20 to $1, and when you say that, brother, smile.

Tony is Tony Pelleteri, the "ex-barber of Seaville," which is to say New Orleans. It was while watching those handbook horse players in his barber shop that Tony got to thinking there must be easier ways of making a living than cutting the hair of the Cajuns that used to wander in and out of the bayous.

According to the way Tony tells it when in a story telling mood, it would be a year or two between visits to the barber for some of those guys. So that it was often necessary to take 'em out in the backyard and give 'em a once over lightly with the sheep shears before it was possible to tell which was the back of their heads and which the front.

I guess it would come as quite a shock to a barber, at that, to think he was shaving a fellow's neck and all of a sudden discover that he was operating on his sinuses.

The word Cajun is, I presume, a contraction and distortion of the word Acadian. The Acadians settled there in the Evangeline country, as you know, after Mr. Longfellow had so skilfully and beautifully followed their travels from Grand Pre.

This is the forest primeval. The murmuring pines and the hemlocks . . .

I got that far from memory. I know you'll have no trouble taking it on from there.

I never hear the name Longfellow that I don't think of old man Harper, the Bourbon whisky man, or one of 'em, who named his great horse, Longfellow, though he had never heard of the poet.

He named him Longfellow because he was long, as Arthur Sager was reminding me when I was up to his house on Fifth ave. for a little Ky. ham, red gravy and biscuits recently.

And when a Kentucky lady came up to the old man after Longfellow had beaten Henry of Navarre the second time and said she thought it mighty fitting that such a great and noble thoroughbred should be named Longfel'ow, ol' John replied:

"Yessum, he certainly is a long hoss, ain't he?"

The first time Longfellow came East to meet Henry of Navarre they walked him on a halter every step of the way from Kentucky. The second time he had progressed to the dignity of a box car. Along the side of the car was run a cloth streamer on which was painted: "Longfellow, on his way to meet his friend, Henry of Navarre."

On a crumbling stone near the sagging old Harper barn in the Blue Grass you can still read the following inscription, though the years have worn it thin, "Longfellow, the King of the Turf. Brown horse. Foaled May 10, 1867. Died Nov. 5, 1893."

Which was a little way before Bay View, although it's all a part of the endless romance of racing. There's a story for every horse.

Even a nickel horse that wins $89,360 on one rainy afternoon. Not to mention that the sharp, black-eyed and mustached Tony is said to have had a hundred on him in the futures at $100 to $1.

I intend no disrespect to Bay View when I label him a nickel horse. He's really better than that off this one lucky win. But he's essentially a sprinter, a speed horse, a bit of a morning glory.

Still, Bay View is lucky to be any horse at all, and Mr. Pelleteri luckier still to have him. In his first start at Aqueduct Tony let him run in a $2000 claimer. And as a yearling Bay View crashed into a stump while running at full speed and all but crushed his chest.

He's not very deep through the heart. Never will be. But with the cool and wise little Wall snuggling him and nursing him in front he got the cakes.

This was the second time "Nick the Slick" had grabbed the "Hundred Grander" by a whisker.

He flew out to ride Stagehand four years ago, arriving on the last plane to get through the storm to L. A. prior to the race.

Which is the way the breaks break sometimes.

ROSS FAVORS DROPPING AMERKS FROM ICE LEAGUE

NEW YORK, March 6 (AP)—The fate of the New York Americans, orphans of the National Hockey League, is going to be decided in May, or before, and the result may be a six-club circuit.

For five years the Amerks have been operated by the league and there are well-founded reports that some of the other clubs are getting tired of the arrangement. But what is probably more important, the Americans' lease on Madison Square Garden expires at the end of the present season.

The obvious deadline on a decision to continue the club is the annual meeting of the league next May, but with the season near a close, the club in the cellar and in the "red," speculation over its future is gloomy. League President Frank Calder has admitted the club may be dropped.

FOUNDERS OF HOCKEY

The case is a sad one because the Americans introduced hockey to New York in 1925 and through thick and thin they have remained the favorites of many of the fans who resented the encroachment and success of the Rangers.

The latter club was organized by the Madison Square Garden Corp. after the Americans showed the sport was a money maker. It is wholly owned by the Garden, which takes all its profits or losses, while the Americans pay a percentage starting as a minimum of 37½ per cent of every admission.

The lease under which the Amerks have operated in the Garden was obtained originally by William Dwyer, and when he forfeited the franchise in 1936 the league took over the lease and the operation of the club. There were eight clubs in the league then, but one of the two Montreal members folded after the 1939 season.

DUTTON AT HELM

The Americans have been handled by Mervyn (Red) Dutton throughout their "orphanage" and everybody agrees that he has done an excellent job of trying to keep them going.

A spokesman for Madison Square Garden, who wanted to remain anonymous because of the corporation's connection with both clubs, said today that the Garden recognizes that Dutton has done a fine job under difficult circumstances, is friendly to him and will do nothing to start a movement that would force the Amerks to move.

Yet he emphasized that the agreement under which the league began to operate the club was supposed to be temporary and had been dragging on from year to year.

ROSS WOULD FIRE AMERKS

This likely means that if some other club takes the initiative in a move to disband the Americans, then the Rangers would join in. Art Ross of the Boston Bruins has been quoted as saying that he thought the league would be better off without them and the push is expected to come from that direction.

WINNERS—Gene Sarazen (kickers) and Ben Hogan are planning what they'll do with $1100 which each won by beating Slammin' Sam Snead and Ralph Guldahl in the finals of the Miami Biltmore four-ball tournament.

Pace of Golf Tougher Than Ever, Says Gene

CORAL GABLES, Fla., March 6 (AP)—You can take it from Gene Sarazen (who should know)—the golf pace is rougher and tougher than it was a few years ago. Sarazen and Ben Hogan won the 18th annual international four-ball tournament yesterday with a 4-and-3 victory over Ralph Guldahl and Sam Snead in the finals—just 13 years after Gene first shared top honors in the event.

"It was a hundred times harder this year," said Sarazen. "There are so many more golfers around nowadays."

Sarazen teamed with Johnny Farrell to defeat Tommy Armour and Bobby Cruickshank in the 1928 four-ball finals. Before and since then he has won two national opens, one British open and three P. G. A. championships, and he still has a lot of good golf in his system.

He first won the United States open in 1922, repeated in 1932 and hopes to win again.

It was Sarazen who won an extra-hole match with an eagle in the second round and scored another eagle the next day to reach the finals.

Hogan cracked loose with a tremendous scoring spree down the stretch, but it was Sarazen who came through with the clincher, a 25-foot chip shot for a birdie on the final hole.

Lefty Grove Celebrates 41st Birthday; Aspires for Admission to Hall of Fame

By HERB FINNEGAN

SARASOTA, Fla., March 6—Robert Moses (Lefty) Grove celebrated his 41st birthday here today by cutting a birthday cake, throwing to batters, playing in the pre-game pepper sessions, posing for the numerous photographers and running around the outfield.

He did not take part in the nine-inning, intra-club game played as a feature of the week-long Sara De Sota pageant.

The patriarchal Red Sox southpaw, starting his 17th season in major league baseball, maps out his own training routine and follows it assiduously.

He will stay at home this week-end with Bobby Doerr, Teddy Williams, Emerson Dickman, Jack Wilson and others while the Sox play Cincinnati in Tampa Friday and the Giants in Miami Saturday and Sunday.

It is unlikely that he will do any pitching in the exhibition games until the club breaks camp the latter part of the month. He followed this schedule a year ago and opened the season with a two-hit shutout over Washington.

Grove has one burning ambition, and that is to win 300 games before his major league career is at an end. He has won 293 already, and is working his head off to get in condition to cop those other seven.

300 VICTORIES GOAL

If he gains his objective, he probably will earn a niche in the baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, because there haven't been many 300-game winners in modern major league baseball.

MODERN ERA

The complete list appends:

Old Cy Young—511.
Walter Johnson—414.
Grover Cleveland Alexander—373.
Christy Mathewson—372.
Eddie Plank—310.

ANCIENT ERA

Charles A. Nichols—360.
John W. Clarkson—327.
Timothy K. Keefe—342.
Charles (Hoss) Radbourne—310.
Michael Welch—309.
Anthony Mullane—302.

Grove's record is unparalleled in post-war baseball. Emery ball, spit ball, finger nail ripping of the seams went out with the Black Sox scandal in 1920, and a pitcher since that day has had to get by on merit alone.

Only one active player antedates Grove in major league baseball, and that is Ted Lyons of the White Sox. Only one player in the major leagues is older, and that is Charlie Root of the Cubs.

The towering southpaw from Lonaconing, Md., came up to the A's in 1925 after serving a long apprenticeship with Jack Dunn's Baltimore Orioles.

Lyons joined the White Sox from Baylor University in 1923 and has been with them since. Lyons will be 41 next Dec. 28.

GROVE TOPS LYONS

Grove, however, has won 293 games to 233 for Lyons, and only three other pitchers in the majors have won more than 200 games. They are Charlie Ruffing, Yankees, 229; Carl Hubbell, Giants, 227; Fred Fitzsimmons, Dodgers, 208.

Charlie Root, despite the fact that he is older than Grove, has won only 193 games since he came up in 1926, and probably will win few others because last year his record was 2 won, 4 lost.

Grove himself had a poor year, his first since 1934. He won only seven, lost 6 after his sensational two-hit opening day shutout.

He was heavy last year, however, and blames his poor record on his extra poundage. This year he has been working like a Trojan to get down to weight, and he is succeeding.

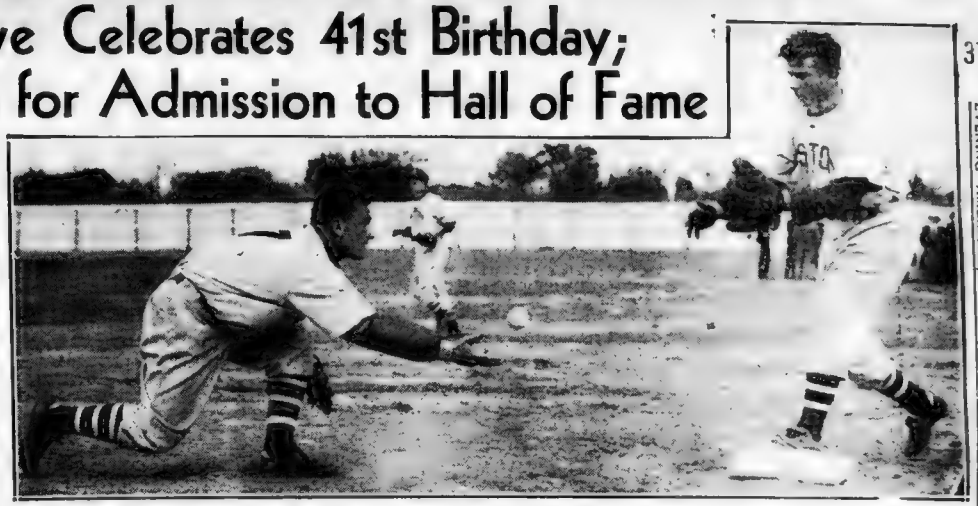
He feels confident he can win those seven games this year to hit the .300 mark, and then—?

Well, if a guy's winning you can't expect him to quit, can you?

PROCITA SPLITS

Joe Procita, Boston's pocket billiard representative, and Johnny Irish of Syracuse, N. Y., split even in the double-header played at Shanley's Recreation Parlors on Washington st.

Procita won first, 125 to 108, with Irish coming back with a 125-to-52 win.



TWIN KILLERS—Eddie Miller, called "best shortstop in baseball today," demonstrates for camera his double play underhand toss to teammate Carvel "Bama" Rowell, second baseman, at Bees' San Antonio, Tex., training camp. These two are members of one of the best defensive infields in the National League with the acquiring on waivers of Babe Dahlgren, first baseman, from the Yankees. Sibi Sisti, third baeman, is the fourth member of the combination.

BEES ACCEPT CHALLENGE FROM ARMY

By BILL GRIMES

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 6—Since the first day he became a baseball executive, President Bob Quinn of the Bees has been a soft touch for church reunions, radio shutins and exhibition games for any worthwhile charity.

A few weeks ago, a dispatch came out of Washington, D. C., stating that the government authorities would greatly appreciate any and all gestures on the part of major league clubs which scheduled baseball games with United States Army teams.

To those who know Bob Quinn, it was a foregone conclusion that the Bees would be the first club to schedule a game with an Army team. And that's how it turned out.

A few days ago, Lieut. David Wade of the 47th Squadron at Randolph Field, which is the West Point of the Air Corps, contacted Manager Casey Stengel, who sent "Duffy" Lewis to arrange a game with the Army team.

After a short conference it was agreed that the Bees would meet the Randolph Field team at the Army post next Tuesday afternoon.

So the Boston Bees became the first major league club to acquiesce to the request of the United States Army and arrange a game with a service team.

Judging from the program which Randolph Field has arranged for the entertainment of the Boston party, the Army appreciates the Bees concession.

ARMY FIELD LARGE

The Army will supply the transportation for the Bees party to and from Randolph Field. The Bostonians will be taken on a tour inspection of the "West Point of the air." And then they will be invited to a luncheon at the officers club.

Between drilling and flying night and day it's tough life at Randolph Field, with all due respect to the fact that flying field is known as the West Point of the air. Like all Army posts, Randolph Field is laboring under the impression that it will be represented by an outstanding nine.

COONEY, HASSETT WORK OUT

Manager Casey Stengel laid his cards on the table while he was talking to Lieut. Wade about next Tuesday's game. Ole Case is just as anxious to weld a club as the Army is to develop a flying corps. So it will be every man for himself and there'll be no pulling of punches, regardless of the score.

The Bees were rained out yesterday after the youngsters managed to squeeze in a morning session.

Johnny Cooney and Buddy Hassett made their 1941 debuts with the youngsters.

Final Boxing Trial At Lynn Tomorrow

The Pioneer A. A. will stage the fourth and last elimination of their diamond belt amateur boxing tournament at the Lynn Arena tomorrow night with all eight classes in competition.

This week's show was put ahead because the N. E. A. A. U. rule that all tournaments must terminate at least 10 days before the national championships and this will give the North Shore club a chance to run their finals on March 21.

Mickey Harris Sets Pace for Sox Pitchers

By HERB FINNEGAN

SARASOTA, Fla., March 6—Mickey Harris was making the Sox varsity moan in batting practice.

"How can you get any hitting with a guy pitching mid-season ball already?" one veteran complained.

"Knocked the bat right out of my hand," said another.

Mickey was practically unhittable. His curve ball was breaking sharply, and his fast one was alive. And the hitters, with the winter's cobwebs still in their eyes, had good reason to moan.

"Tie a rope on him," Joe Cronin advised Frank Shellenback lest Mickey injure his arm.

But the New York southpaw insisted his arm was okay, that he never felt better in his life.

FAST START IN '40 TOO

Mickey is the farthest advanced of any of the Sox pitchers.

He's throwing the ball strictly overhand to right-handed batters this year, getting away from the sidearm stuff which was ducksoup for the Greenbergs and the rest.

Mickey was equally sensational here last spring. He had come up from Scranton with a 19-4 record and proceeded to burn up the grapefruit league. And he kept it up during the early spring.

He had won four games for the Sox when he was returned to Scranton just before July 4. It was more for disciplinary reasons than lack of ability, however, that he was sent back.

He wasn't hiding his pitches, nor holding men on bases right, nor doing several other things vital to a young pitcher's success. So down he went.

But one thing about the kid, he didn't let it get him down. He won 10 games for Nemo Leibold from July 4 in, and helped Scranton to the Eastern League pennant.

He was seriously ill last fall but recuperated nicely, and three weeks before he was due to report this year he started running around the St. John's College track in Brooklyn.

He didn't do any throwing, he says, but the batters swear he must have been pitching all winter to be in the shape he's in now.

NEW FELLOWS HOT

It's a funny thing but veteran Sox pitchers like Grove, Wilson and Dickman are running far behind the newcomers to date.

Fellows like Mike Ryba, Oscar Judd, Tex Hughson and Lefty Powell all were smart enough to do considerable pitching before they came to camp, and are getting the breaks now as a result. And Woody Rich never was better.

It may be that an entire new pitching deal will be in order at Fenway Park this summer, and it probably will be for the best.

The club has nothing to lose at any rate because it hasn't been getting any pitching in recent years anyway.

NEW YORK, March 6 (INS)—The Metropolitan open golf championship, one of the oldest annual events in American golf, has been abandoned, Walker L. Trammell, president of the Metropolitan Golf Ass'n, announced today.

BIG-HEARTED JURY SOUGHT IN 'FIX' TRIAL

LOS ANGELES, March 6 (INS)—Big-hearted jurors who don't mind such things as losing money on a race horse were being sought for service today in Superior Judge Charles W. Fricke's court.

Such broad-mindedness is a requirement, it appeared, for any juror who is to sit on teh case of six alleged race fixing conspirators and jockey bribers now on trial before Judge Fricke.

Attorneys representing the six, Bernard and William Einstoss, Sol Greenberg, Benjamin Chapman, I. W. Kivel and Irving Sangbush, were asking prospective jurors whether they might be prejudiced if they fuond, during the trial, they had los theta on a "fixed" race.

The idea stressed by the lawyers was that the jockeys, who are expected to testify for the prosecution, may reveal that they "pulled" horses in any number of races last year.

The lawyers, who claim their clients had nothing to do with the race-fixing activities to which the jockeys have assertedly confessed, merely want to make sure, they said, that the jurors won't be angry at their clients.

Rizzuto, Yanks Star Rookie, Called by Board

NEW YORK, March 6 (AP)—Phil Rizzuto, 22-year-old rookie up from Kansas City who is expected to be the New York Yankees' regular shortstop this season, has been ordered to take his physical examination, a Glendale (N. Y.) draft board official said today.

Rizzuto will be allowed to take the exam at a draft board near the Yankee training camp in St. Petersburg, Fla.

The official said Rizzuto had not yet been given a classification, and that no further information on his case would be forthcoming until he has taken his physical test.

NATIONAL HOCKEY TITLE TOURNEY SET FOR GARDEN

The Boston Garden becomes the center of amateur hockey on March 13, when the American Hockey Ass'n sponsors a three-day tourney for the National Senior B title.

The 97 Club of Boston won the crown last winter when they defeated the Junior Olympics in the finals at the Boston Arena.

As a result of last season's triumph the 97 Club automatically becomes the number one entry.

By virtue of their recent victory in the New England A. H. A. championships the Boston Junior Olympics have also won their way into the tournament.

The Juniors and the 97 Club are the only Boston sextets entered in the championship fight.

New England A. H. A. president, Herb Ralby, revealed last night that eight selected teams will compete for the grand prize.

Two teams from New Jersey, two from Maine and one club from New York, to be selected within a few days, will help fill out the tourney. Another team from western Massachusetts is expected to compete also.

The first round of play will open to the public at 6 p. m. on Thursday evening, March 13.

Four games will be played on Thursday evening, with the finals to be played prior to the Olympic-Baltimore tilt on Saturday night, March 15.

Face-off time each night will be at 6 p. m.

Frisch Impressed With Giant Hurler

By Associated Press

HAVANA, March 6—Pitcher Howard Mills, whom the Brooklyn Dodgers bought conditionally from the St. Louis Browns, will get his first chance to prove himself in an exhibition when the Cleveland Indians attack tomorrow. He will share the Brooklyn hurling with Hugh Casey and Whitlow Wyatt.

• • •

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—The Phillies will carry 10 pitchers this season, meaning that eight of the group now in camp are tagged for disposal. On the basis of training thus far observers say the best bets to stay are Ike Pearson, Walter (Boom Boom) Beck, Si Johnson, Vito Tamulis, Frank Rufus Melton, Cy Blanton, Tommy Hughes, John Podgajny and Frank Hoerst. One berth is still wide open.

• • •

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—National League President Ford Frick watched the St. Louis Cardinals intra-squad game yesterday and inspected their pitching machine. Afterward Manager Billy Southworth designated Herschel Lyons, Ernie White and John Grodzicki to pitch in the first exhibition against the New York Yankees tomorrow.

• • •

PASADENA, Cal.—George Dickey, rookie of the Chicago White Sox, has a high estimate of the ability of Brother Bill of the New York Yankees. Asked if he would have preferred a spot with the Bombers, George replied, "Naw, the competition would be too stiff. I might never get to play."

• • •

LAKELAND, Fla.—Pitcher Fred Hutchinson arrived at the Detroit Tigers' camp with good news anent his condition and his draft status.

"I've kept in shape all winter. I took a long hiking trip in Alaska in December and have been working to maintain my edge ever since." He also said he had a high draft number and didn't expect to be called before the end of the season.

• • •

MIAMI, Fla. — The New York Giants want to trade, but they are not going to be rushed into anything. Manager Bill Terry disclosed yesterday that he had been offered Holdout Hank Leiber by the Chicago Cubs but that the deal had fallen through. The Giants would not give Hank Danning for him and the Cubs wouldn't take two proffered outfielders. Terry also said he had made no offers for Frank Crosetti or any other Yankee.

• • •

ORLANDO, Fla. — Two hard-swatting rookies, Outfielder Joe Mellendeck and First Baseman Jack Sanford, have captured the favor of Washington's bosses, who are feverishly hunting power at the plate. Mellendeck must beat out the veteran Ben Chapman to win a regular berth, while Sanford is a hot rival of George Archie at first.

Mr. Boston

By JACK CONWAY

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 6—When the racing craze swept the country and many of the leading States legalized horse racing, there were many persons who contended that the tracks would find it impossible to secure sufficient horses to fill their cards.

The experiences of Charley McLennan at Hialeah Park and Bob Shelley at Tropical Park prove there is no shortage of horses.

"I had 105 horses for one race on the second day of our present meeting," Shelley told me. "I find there are more thoroughbreds than at any time in the history of the sport.

"Now that racing has become more popular, there will be additional breeding farms. In the past, most horses have been bred in Maryland or in Kentucky. I look for other States to give attention to what has become a profitable business.

"Massachusetts and California give special awards to local breeders when one of their horses wins on a home track."

The price of thoroughbreds continues to be high. Once you get beyond the $1200 horses, it is difficult to purchase any kind of a promising two-year-old short of $3000.

You cannot get owners of the great handicap horses to set a value on their thoroughbreds. I doubt if Edward Moore of the Circle M. Ranch would sell Big Pebble for $250,000 despite the fact the winner of the Widener Challenge Cup only cost him $5000. There is a pride in ownership which causes millionaires like Moore to refuse to sell regardless of price.

When Discovery was beating all-comers, I asked youthful Alfred G. Vanderbilt if he would sell the wonder horse for $250,000.

"I would say no, even if offered a million dollars for Discovery," declared Vanderbilt. "I seldom bet more than $10 on any of my horses. My thrill out of racing is in seeing my colors come down in front. When Discovery is no longer able to race, I shall retire him."

Breeding Farms of Kentucky Show Places

FOR ONE TO get a real idea of the millions that are put into racing with little hope of showing a profit one should visit Lexington, Kentucky. There are 600 horse farms in this area. It is there that Man o' War, War Admiral and other famous turf kings of former years live.

The owners have these farms fixed up like show places. Unless an owner is fortunate in having a stand-out horse like Big Pebble, he is likely to lose money on his racing stable.

It is, of course, necessary that the owners of these farms be wealthy men since there is so little chance of making money out of these huge places.

It is this background that has made thoroughbred racing in the United States. The public realize that rich men and women who will put so much money into racing because they like the sport would not do anything that would hurt the turf game.

The success of the present Florida racing season indicates that the sport will also have a big year in New England. The New England racing will open at Narragansett Park on April 12 and it will not close until mid-November at Rockingham Park.

The three New England tracks have already received many requests for stall space from horsemen now in Florida. The large purses and fine racing conditions at the New England tracks have attracted the attention of horsemen everywhere. Judge James E. Dooley, Charles F. Adams and Lou Smith have always shown every consideration for the visiting horsemen.

"One of the reasons we built the Terrace Club on top of the clubhouse at Narragansett Park," Judge Dooley told me, "was to make our track more comfortable for visiting horsemen. It will give them a place where they can meet each other on days of important races. I believe many racegoers will also enjoy this club."

Items From the Miami Front

MILTON BERLE, starring at the Royal Palm Club, says he came to Florida for the winter and found it . . . Milt declared he saw a woman in front of the Roney Plaza using a mink coat for a bathing suit . . . Abe Lyman, Jack Dempsey's pal, has his orchestra at the Royal Palm Club.

Jim Connors, chairman of the board at Narragansett Park; Mrs. Connors, Charles Connors, also a large stockholder in Narragansett Park, and Mrs. Connors have been taking in the races at Tropical Park.

JOE CRONIN says his Red Sox will show some good early season form when they play the Giants here on Saturday and Sunday . . . This will be the first test of the season for the Sox . . . Bill Terry has been working his Giants hard . . . They have had the advantage of games with the Dodgers in Cuba and they will be ready for the Red Sox invasion . . . Terry tells me that Gabby Hartnett has proved of great value in developing some of the Giants young pitchers. Terry believes the Giants will better their league standing during the coming season . . . Bill speaks favorably of the youthful stars on the Bees . . . He thinks Casey Stengel has some very promising baseball material.

Landis Hits Demotions

CHICAGO, March 6 (AP)—Baseball Commr K. M. Landis, in a letter to all major league clubs, indicated today another step will be taken to tighten baseball law governing major-minor league relationships when the organizations hold their annual meetings next fall.

"It should not be possible for a player, major or minor, to be demoted to lower classification service without waivers," Landis said. In reference to a rule which allows certain players to be transferred optionally without waivers being asked on them.

The commissioner said such demotion without waivers "deprives the player of an opportunity to remain in the higher classification for which acquired; and also frequently involves his sustaining a loss through reduction of the salary contracted to be paid him by the assigning club, and this even though that club owns the club to which it transfers the player.

'In the interest of players and the general welfare of baseball, legislation should be enacted which will safeguard the players' rights in such cases."

A joint committee now is working on the general subject of a revision of the game's rules.

Mechanic Arts Upset By English Runners

English High, with a spectacular performance, barely edged Mechanic Arts in a quadrangular track meet, a real preview of the coming Regimentals, at the East Newton st. armory.

Roxbury Memorial and Trade followed in that order. English scored 92, Mechanics 87, Memorial 29 and Trade 23.

AMATEUR GLOVEMEN FIGHT FOR N. E. THRONE OPENINGS

Final chance for amateur boxers in Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Rhode Island to qualify for the annual New England Championships, comes Monday night at the Arena. The occasion will be the third and final tryout tourney sponsored by the Irish-American A. A., and the meeting is open to all registered A. A. U. boxers in the New England Ass'n.

With no State championships being held in either New Hampshire or Rhode Island this is the only way that boys from those States can hope to try for a New England title.

Bouts will be held in all eight classes at championship weights. All entries must be made in writing and filed with Tom Kanaly at the Arena.

Monday night's winners in all classes as well as the winners of the first two elimination shows plus the Mass. State champions of '41 will battle for titles in the grand finals of the New England boxing championships, to be held at Boston Garden on March 17.

New entries received today included Billy Somma, Jr., Lawrence in the 112 pounds—John McKinnon, Dorchester and Eddie Spirdione, Lawrence in the 118—Fred Mottram, Lawrence, Jimmy Lyman Lowell and John Mello, Cambridge in the 126—Geo. Dresser and Thomas Wallace, South Boston in the 135—Al Brien, Lawrence; John Fersig, So. Boston, Charles Samara, Woburn in the 147—Anthony Bonamo, Malden in the 160 pounds.

Boy Kegler, 3, 35-Pounder, In Congress

ST. PAUL, March 6 (AP)—John Edward Zager might not win any prize money in the American Bowling Congress tournament which opens March 13, but he certainly holds the record as the youngest entrant in the 41-year history of the competition.

John Edward, only a bit taller than a regulation size ten-pin, is just 3 years old.

Nevertheless, his entry has been duly accepted by V. E. Gatzow, reservation clerk, who notified John Pagoria of Chicago Heights, Ill. the boy's home, of the action.

Young Zager uses a duck pin ball, especially drilled for a thumb and two fingers of his tiny hand, and he gets all of his 35 pounds into his heave just like a veteran.

He does a good job of sputtering, too, if the ball happens to hit the gutter.

John's best effort thus far is 27 in 10 frames. His appearance in the coming tournament is scheduled for Sunday, March 16.

Pick Conn to Stop Hassett in Seventh

WASHINGTON, March 6 (INS)—Billy Conn, contender for the heavyweight crown of Champion Joe Louis, today was a 5-to-1 favorite for his 15-round bout in Washington tonight with Danny Hassett of Philadelphia.

A crowd of 8000 is expected, despite a consensus of opinion among fight fans that Hassett will be at the mercy of the former light-heavyweight champion anytime after the seventh round.

RINDGE FACES QUINCY QUINT ON TECH COURT

With four decisions already settled in the Class B preliminary round of the 16th annual M. I. T. schoolboy tourney which got underway yesterday in the M. I. T. hangar gym, Cambridge, the Class A tourney gets started today at 2:30.

Rindge Tech takes on Quincy High in the opening game and at 3:30, New Bedford meets Beverly. Tonight, starting at 7:30, Lynn Classical clashes with Attleboro followed by the Chelsea vs. Brookline tussle.

Framingham, Braintree, Milford and Chelmsford all emerged victorious in their opening round play in Class B.

Framingham defeated Belmont 34 to 28 but only after forcing the winners into the first overtime game in a decade of this tourney. Braintree eked out a 29 to 28 win over Methuen; Milford got by Lexington, 37 to 34, and Chelmsford was the only school which had little trouble in pinning a 38 to 25 defeat onto Weston.

The semi-finals in the class will be played tomorrow. Chelmsford meets Framingham and Milford plays Braintree.

Success of Hurlers Holds Cubs' Chances

AVALON, SANTA CATALINA ISLAND, Cal., March 6 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs might be the dark horse contender in the National League race this year, but it doesn't take the wisdom of a Hindu crystal gazer to know that the club's chances would be vastly enhanced if some of the question mark pitchers should come through.

The tension in the club during the late stages of Gabby Hartnett's reign apparently has disappeared completely, replaced by something closely akin to the old college spirit and a firm hold on the bridle by Jimmy Wilson, a veteran with more knowledge than illusions about ball players.

Three winning pitchers, Claude Passeau, reliable Larry French and young Vern Olsen, and a host of others who might—or might not—deliver, including none other than Mr. Jerome H. Dean.

A good defensive infield, with Capt. Billy Herman at second, Billy Myers at short, smiling Stan Hack at third and Rip Russell back at first, provided he can hold off the challenge of Ed Waitkus, who batted .303 with Tulsa last season.

A potentially powerful outfield of Bill Nicholson in right, Hank Leiber in center, the much talked of Louie Novikoff in left and Augie Galan, looking like he's ready for a big year, liable to push Capable catching, with Al Todd the reliable mainstay, and at this date, three younger men battling for a chance to stay with the club. Husky Clyde McCullough, who clouted .324 with Buffalo in 1940, seems to have an edge in the race, but Bob Scheffing from Rochester, and Charley George from Nashville, are making a strong bid.

Wilson has several fine looking rookies in addition to Novikoff, including young Louie Stringer from Los Angeles, who is being groomed for Bill Herman's job. Stringer may wait a long time before he moves Herman out. But he's too valuable a prospect to turn loose. Leonard Merrilo, after a year with Tulsa, has looked very good at short.

PICS TANGLE WITH ROVERS ON GARDEN ICE

The Olympics, who have yet to win a home game since last defeating the Rovers on Feb. 12, during their win streak, will attempt to get back on the victory trail tonight at the Garden when they tangle with the same New York outfit in the first of a two-game series.

Both clubs return tomorrow night to the North Station rink for the concluding game and also the Rovers' last appearance of the season here in Boston.

PRYOR ON SHELF

The Junior Olympics meet the Springfield Braves in a preliminary game starting at 6 o'clock.

The Rovers last night dropped a 5 to 2 decision to the River Vale Skeeters.

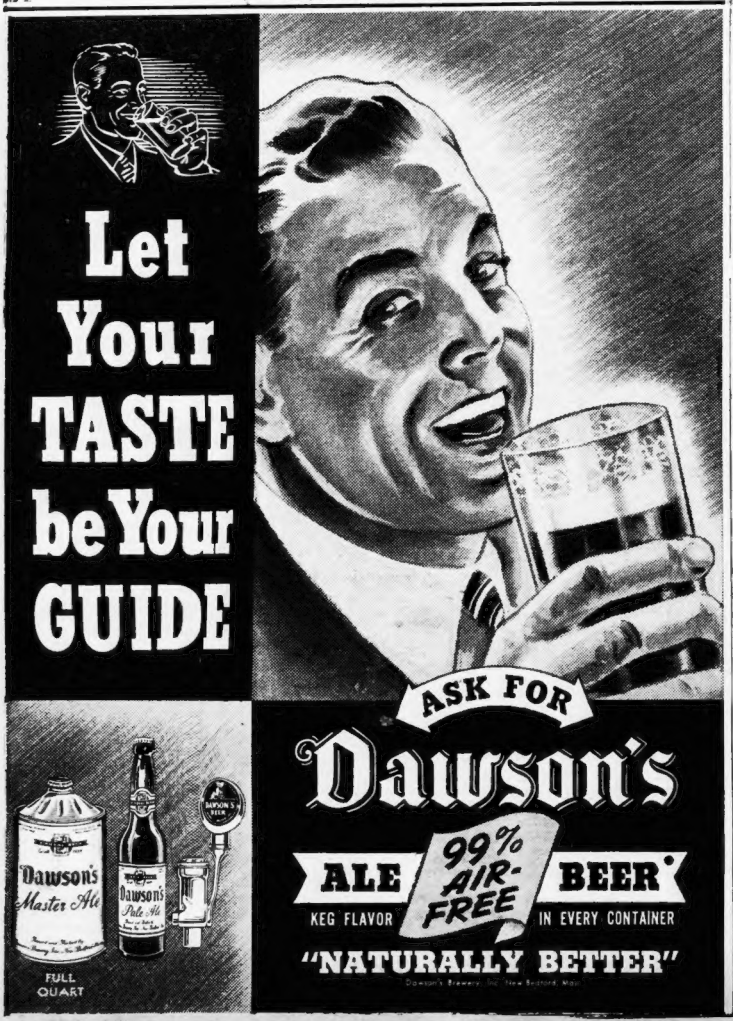
Hago Harrington returned from Washington with one casualty, Johnnie Pryor, who appears to be suffering from a broken bone in his hand. As a result of the Framingham youth's misfortune, Bob Mee, erstwhile defense man, will be moved to the right wing post of the Eagle Flight to team with Ray Chaisson and Al Dumond.

FITZ CLICKS IN CAPITAL

Johnnie Fitzgerald, who personally kept the Olympics in the Washington tilt, Tuesday evening in the nation's capital, will continue on the second line. He will team with Gerry Desrosiers and Jack Costello. Desrosiers will be in the play-making position.

Coach Harrington was high on Fitz's work at Washington. The youthful Newton kid slapped three, what Harrington called "smart" goals past Les Colvin.

PICS' RIVAL—Jules Sawchuk, rugged defenseman of the New York Rovers, will stand in the way of many an Olympic rush tonight at Boston Garden. Sawchuk is considered one of the best defensemen in amateur hockey. He's ready to make the big step to the National Hockey League.



Dream Match To Be Seen by Few

MIAMI, Fla., March 6 (AP)—A golf match which, if played on almost any course in the United States, probably would draw a greater crowd than saw the last Dempsey-Tunney fight, is due to take place 10 days from now in comparative seclusion.

It will be surprising if more than 1000, counting both natives and visitors, see the benefit "match of champions" at Nassau March 15-16, even though the Duke of Windsor will be the official referee, accompanied by the Duchess.

In the dawn of March 15 a seaplane will put up to the ramp in Dinner Key here and take on its spectacular cargo for the two-hour flight to Nassau, right out into the Atlantic.

On board will be Bobby Jones, winner of 13 major championships; Walter Hagen, with 11 to his credit; Gene Sarazen with six and Tommy Armour with three. Hagen, Sarazen and Armour—the only players ever to win "all three," the British and American opens and the Professional Golfers Association championship. Jones, who scored the unforgettable "grand slam."

That afternoon, over the pretty Nassau course, Hagen and Sarazen will pair against Jones and Armour in the first round of their 36-hole four-ball match for the benefit of the Red Cross, with the Duke jotting down the scores. The second round will be played the following day, with the whole crowd fixing back that night.

PLEASE FILE EARLY

ENTRY FEE MUST ACCOMPANY ENTRY BLANK

Miss Lorraine Belanger of Manchester, one of the most promising feminine bowlers in New Hampshire, has filed her entry in the sixth annual American-Record candlepin championships and thus becomes the first official starter in the schoolgirls' title division.

Miss Belanger will be making her third annual tournament apperance, and this time her many supporters expect her to succeed Fitchburg's high-rolling Dorothy Yando, who has dominated the girls' contention in the past years.

This year Miss Yando will confine her championship efforts to the women's events, in which she has in the past shown she can more than hold her own. Pretty Dorothy is a finished performer who, having outgrown the schoolgirls, has high hopes of continuing her domination into the senior ranks.

STARTS MARCH 29

Entries for the mammoth pin congress continues to pile up. Singles, doubes and team groups are once again coming to the Huntington Club tournament scene from every section of New England.

The tournament will be held from Saturday, March 29, through Saturday, April 12, exclusive of Sundays.

Grand prizes will be presented winners prizes which are by far the finest in New England bowling ranks.

FILE ENTRIES EARLY

Men and women, boy and girl keglers are given a very special invitation to participate in this year's title event. All are welcome and the Huntington Club with its 72 fine alleys will be amply able to accommodate just as many as sign up.

But it is very important that all prospective entrants file their entry blanks on time, and time is growing short. So please aid the tournament committee by mailing your entries today.

FAIR SHOWERS RAIN CLOUDY

Dead on arrival at Cambridge City Hospital was the mother of this baby... dead with a prayer for her child, yet unborn, on her lips. And tragedy stalked into the dread whiteness of the operating room, where a young interne worked heroically in grim, tight-lipped silence. Then, there came a cry . . . a cry from beyond the grave, and the baby was carried to an incubator, hovering between life and death. But life won at last . . . and today the baby's father, John Morin, visited his daughter, held proudly in the arms of Nurse Alice Griffin.
